Test Our Sincerity: Rusk

Aide Puts Challenge To Red China, N. Viet

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk challenged North Viet Nam and Communist China on Saturday night to test U.S. sincerity in wanting peace in Viet Nam by coming to a conference table and starting to diminish the fighting.

"Then they will find out that we are genuine" in seeking a Viet Nam settlement, Rusk said in a public response to Hanoi-Peking charges that the latest U.S. peace proposals are a swindle.

The secretary of state spoke to newsmen after a 4½-hour dinner discussion meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko on Viet Nam and other East-West issues.

It was their second and final such meeting prior to Rusk's return to Washington on Sunday after a week at the U.N. General Assembly.

Rusk declined to comment on any aspect of his meeting with the Soviet foreign minister.

The United States and the Soviet Union have been deadlocked over the Viet Nam dispute, but some believed progress toward agreements may be possible on some other issues such as a nuclear nonproliferation and outer space treaties.

Ahead of the Saturday evening parley at Gromyko's uptown headquarters, the United States publicly endorsed at the United Nations a Soviet resolution calling on all nations not to hamper efforts for a treaty to halt the spread of atomic weapons.

This was something of a surprise, because Gromyko had introduced the resolution Friday with a new blast at U.S. plans for nuclear sharing among the Atlantic Allies, including West Germany.

But Rusk denies the U.S. plans would give independent atomic weapons control to any new country. And since the Soviet resolution itself mentions no nation by name, U.S. strategists decided the smartest tactic would be to join the Soviets on it.

"We find much to commend in this draft resolution," U.S. Ambassador James M. Nabrit Jr. said in announcing to the U.N. General Assembly's steering committee that America would sponsor the item.

Both powers say a nuclear nonproliferation treaty rates high priority despite their difficulties in negotiating one at the Geneva Disarmament Conference.

U.S. diplomats did not expect ratification until the 17-nation Geneva parley reconvenes early next year, but they rated prospects fair for agreement at this fall's U.N. Assembly on a treaty to preserve outer space for peaceful uses.

The Viet Nam war cast a long shadow over U.S.-Soviet relations as Rusk scheduled his final meeting with Gromyko at the Soviet delegation building here before returning to Washington Sunday. The two met at Rusk's suite for three hours Thursday night.

U.S. Jets Back Battling Marines

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers from Guam struck at North Viet Nam Saturday for the third time this week in support of American Marines battling to drive out North Vietnamese regulars from the border province of Quang Tri.

The U.S. command said Sunday that the raids by the eight-jet Stratofortresses were followed by strikes by smaller planes. The B52s hit truck parks, storage depots and infiltration routes and Air Force F4 Phantoms bombed petroleum dumps just north of the demilitarized zone that separates North and South Viet Nam.

Pilots of the Phantoms reported secondary fires and explosions after the strikes five miles north of the zone in North Viet Nam.

In other air raids, U.S. Navy A4 Skyhawks from the carrier Coral Sea pounced on a train 11 miles northeast of Hanoi in North Viet Nam and smashed five and damaged 10 other box cars, a spokesman said.

In the ground action, a company of the 7th Marines taking part in Operation Prairie came under mortar fire while engaging an enemy squad. Marine artillery opened up and another company was moved up to reinforce but was unable to link up with their besieged comrades.

Marine casualties were reported as moderate in the five-hour action near Cam Lo, about 10 miles south of the demilitarized zone.

The Leathernecks claimed 58 enemy dead.

A spokesman also announced that Operation Prairie, launched in early August, has now accounted for 704 enemy dead.

A South Vietnamese spokesman announced that government units killed 99 Viet Cong in separate weekend action near Ca Mau.

South Korea's Tiger Division announced its troops killed 41 Viet Cong and captured five in a drive launched Friday at Phu Cat Mountain, 270 miles northeast of Saigon. A spokesman said Korean casualties were light.

This drive is one phase of separate but coordinated operations being conducted in the central coastal area by American, South Vietnamese and Korean battalions.

Across country in Tay Ninh Province on the Cambodian frontier, a battalion of the U.S. 196th Light Infantry Brigade was in the 10th day of a field campaign that has stirred only light enemy contact.

The operation, first by men of the brigade since they arrived in Viet Nam Aug. 14, has accounted for five Viet Cong killed. The troops said they seized five weapons and quantities of rice, documents and equipment.

The U.S. command disclosed reports of plane losses over North Viet Nam have been complete. It said that, as of Friday, they totaled 35. The official count, based on spokesmen's announcements, had been 371 with the destruction Thursday of a U.S. Navy Skyraider.

Planes shot down in South Viet Nam were reported to total 123. This excludes parked aircraft lost through enemy attacks and those wrecked by mechanical failure.

Statistics of war included an airlift record for U.S. Air Force.

RFK's Wife's Brother, Four Others Killed

RIGGINS, Idaho (AP) — The bodies of five men — including George Shaker Jr., brother of Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy — were taken Saturday from the wreckage of a plane which crashed in the central Idaho primitive area.

The five, members of a 20-man elk hunting party, also included Dean F. Markham of McLean, Va., a close friend of Sen. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

The other killed were Louis Werner II, an investor and member of a prominent St. Louis family; Earl Ranft, president of the Dabur Haulage Co., of Bayonne, N.J.; and the pilot, Donald Adams, of Mountain Home Air Force Base, Idaho.

Shaker, of Greenwich, Conn., was president of the Great Lakes Carbon Corp. of New York, which has holdings in southwest Idaho. Markham was in charge of Great Lakes' Washington office.

The five were killed late Friday when their plane, loaded with hunting gear, overshot an airstrip deep in the Salmon River gorge 40 miles east of Riggins, Idaho. Aeronautics Director Chet Moulton said the pilot apparently tried to make a climbing turn in a steep canyon.

The five were in one of several planes carrying the hunting party from several eastern states and California to a ranch off the Salmon River, near Crooked River.

The bodies were taken by helicopter to an airstrip downstream where an ambulance waited to return them to Boise.

A Great Lakes Carbon Corp. plane that brought many of the party to Boise from New York City Friday was to return the bodies to the East.

Sen. Kennedy canceled a weekend political tour in New England because of the death of his brother-in-law.

Ford, Chrysler Eye Price Cut

DETROIT (AP) — Ford and Chrysler officials were busy this weekend trying to figure out whether they should cut their 1967 car prices announced this week.

Ford's average increase of $113 and Chrysler's average of $92 or $103, depending on who states it, look king sized in comparison with General Motor's $54 average hike.

The nine million people who the industry hopes will put their money on the line in 1967 for a new car may be sure of one thing: The price tag is going to be larger than for 1966 models.

The amount of the GM increase caught the rest of the industry off guard and caused Ford and Chrysler to take a second look at their price sheets.

Fears Sales Drop

"This is a pretty competitive business and we've got to get our prices in line or lose sales," said a Ford executive who declined use of his name.

"We are using plenty of pencils and erasers this weekend, working on price charts," he added.

GM's surprise move, coming after the other two of the Big Three were on the street with their new prices, was a tipoff that the automotive giant is out to regain its sales prestige in 1967.

August reports showed General Motors sales for calendar 1966 running behind those for the similar 1965 period. Ford's and Chrysler's were ahead.

Industry observers were convinced that Chrysler, second of the Big Three to announce, would be content to sit back and let Ford figure its way out of the price dilemma. Then Chrysler could match and American Motors, which has not yet announced its figures, could jump into the fray.

Point which could bother Ford in any price refitting was its original insistence that new car prices reflected only increased costs of materials, plus additional safety features made standard for 1967.

Thus, if Ford cuts back as it is generally assumed it may be forced to do, it will have to find some place where a materials price cut can be made or some nonstandard safety item removed if it is to maintain its profit margin.

One of the surprises to auto industry leaders was the mild reaction from the Johnson administration to the car price boost. Henry Ford II and Ford President Arjay Miller made a special trip to Washington four days before the price announcement to tell President Johnson's No. 1 economic adviser, Gardner Ackley, what they were planning to do.

Rep Increases

The initial announcement from Ford drew regret or criticism from President Johnson, Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., and United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther, but no words were as harsh as those which the federal government used when steel companies raised their prices earlier.

The auto industry apparently had done a pretty good job of convincing the administration that it was only fair that the American public, which the government said wanted a safer car for 1967, should pay for it.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The slow congressional pace early this year is paying political dividends for the Johnson administration as much key legislation becomes law in the weeks leading up to the Nov. 8 election.

Politicians generally agree that voters are more likely to remember a popular bill that is signed into law amid considerable fanfare in October than one that was signed back in February.

Most of the major "Great Society" bills of this year with potent political appeal in the cities, to labor unions and among minority groups have either won congressional approval in the last month or are likely to attain it before Congress goes home.

Attention Drawn

Johnson has just signed two key measures: a minimum wage bill that raises the federal level to $1.40 next February and increases coverage, and a bill to authorize a clamp down on rising interest rates.

Earlier this month, he signed such bills as the auto and high-

Screaming Mob Burns Portuguese Embassy In Congo

KINSHASA, The Congo (AP) — A howling mob of Africans ransacked and burned the Portuguese embassy Saturday and seized two diplomats and a woman stenographer. All were released after being manhandled by the mob.

In New York, Portugal angrily demanded that the U.N. Security Council take action on the issue. Antonio Patricio, charge affairs of the Portuguese U.N. delegation, charged that the Congolese government was inciting violence against its Portuguese residents.

Patricio demanded that the Council urge the Congolese government to protect foreigners and their property.

The Council is expected to meet Friday to deal with a Congolese complaint that Portugal is harboring European mercenaries in Angola in support of ex-Premier Moise Tshombe. The Congo charged Tshombe intends to use them to overthrow the government of President Joseph D. Mobutu.

The Portuguese U.N. delegation also protested the embassy burning to the Congolese delegation and demanded full compensation.

Radio Kinshasa said the crowd who burned the embassy were Angolan exiles and numbered about 200.

In Lisbon, the Portuguese Foreign Ministry announced it was sending a protest to the U.N. Security Council in New York.

The announcement said the Portuguese government will seek assurances from the Congo that Portuguese lives and property will be safeguarded. It added that Portugal will demand restitution for the damage to the embassy and injuries to its personnel.

Taken from the embassy by the mob were the charge d'affaires, Antonio Resso Garcia; first secretary, Carlos Milheiras; and Maria Helena Silva, a stenographer.

The U.S. Embassy next door was untouched.

The Portuguese announcement said a vigorous protest was being sent also to the Congolese government. It charged that serious threats had been made recently against Portuguese living in the Congo and that Congolese police ignored acts of violence.

Says Red Guard Formed To Back Revolutionaries

HONG KONG (AP) — Red China's rampaging Red Guards were formed as a vehicle to teach revolutionary ways to youths who never had experienced revolution, the leader of a Japanese delegation to Peking said Saturday.

The report of former Foreign Minister Zenzo Kosaka of Japan coincided with a broadcast dispatch from Peking that the Red Guards now are taking military training, along with huge assignments of political study, all based on the theories of Mao Tse-tung, the Chinese leader.

The youthful Red Guards have been storming through Chinese cities trying to uproot all old customs and habits and replace them with new ones.

Heading For War

"I wish I could do something to keep us from heading into a world war, but I don't know what to do."

Fulbright, who has had some recent conferences with Johnson, came away from them with the feeling that he had not been able to get the President to listen carefully to his viewpoint and his fears.

Johnson has a tendency in such conferences to inundate his callers with arguments, statistics, reports from field commanders and U.S. representatives. At times his listeners find the audience concluded without their having felt that they have been able to get in any telling arguments of their own.

Mrs. Harvey Hodge gave the secretary's report and Miss Rella Backus, corresponding secretary, gave her report.

Correspondence was read from the three music students who were sponsored at camp last summer, Lois Janvlin, Ethel Dolan, and Patty Lorton. A letter was also read from Boy's Town in appreciation for the seventy-five dozen cookies which were taken recently to the camp from the club by Mrs. Harp.

Mrs. Harp announced the local project for the coming year, redecorating the club room.

All committees for the year are the same as last year except the finance committee.

Mrs. A. W. Pennock has resigned as chairman. The house committee, is comprised of Mrs. Herman Spencer, Mrs. Howard Thompson, Mrs. James Bartlett and Mrs. Lee Lewis.

Hostesses were Mrs. Donald Barnett, Mrs. O. L. Ferguson, Jr., Mrs. Harry McDonald, Mrs. Harvey Hull, Mrs. T. B. Hillman, Mrs. Earl Bacon, Mrs. George Fischbeck, Mrs. J. C. Black, and Miss Florence Whitworth.

Roodhouse News

Born Sept. 12 to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kesinger of Greenfield, a son, named John Davis, at the White Hall hospital. Of local interest is the fact that the baby is the first grandson of Mrs. Kermit Fansler, a member of the Roodhouse center elementary teacher force, and her husband, Kermit Fansler, a member of the North Greene High school personnel, both White Hall residents. The baby joins a sister at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hodge were Sunday night supper guests in the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hodge, Godfrey, who will move Oct. 1 to their new home in the Wedgwood subdivision of Florissant, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Logan, accompanied by Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Janvlin, drove to Hartford, Sunday afternoon, where they were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Carlton, and later joined the Carltons to attend the union revival services conducted by the Rev. Hyman Appleman.

The Roodhouse cousins and their guests also attended a gathering at the Carlton home following the services honoring their pastor's wife, Mrs. J. Edward Quick on her birthday. Pie, cake, and coffee were served to those attending.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hunt, Chicago, visited during the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Monroe Gilmore, Roodhouse; and with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Strang, White Hall. Mrs. Gilmore was also a guest in the Strang home Sunday.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Why did a successful movie director like Richard Quine become a television producer?

"Jean Arthur," he answers simply. "All they did was drop that name in front of me, and I fell to my knees. I had never known anybody that didn't love her on the screen, and I was a long-time fan myself."

"Also, television presented a challenge. Like a lot of people, I have been stupefied by what I saw on the home screen. I felt compelled to see if I could do any better."

The results on "The Jean Arthur Show" are not in yet. The reviews are what you might call mixed, some critics applauding the actress' return, some reporting that the vehicle was not up to her talents.

"I can understand how some of them felt. If I had been merely watching the show at home, I might have been of the same opinion," said Quine. "But they were comparing her with the Jean Arthur who appeared opposite Gary Cooper, Jimmy Stewart and Ronald Colman."

Quine is a former MGM juvenile who still looks youthful in his mid-40s despite a recession of his blond locks. He retains a boyish enthusiasm for his work, but he admitted that he didn't know what he was getting into when he tackled television.

"It is a terrifying kind of involvement," he remarked. "It takes me a year to make a movie, from the start of the script to the final cutting and scoring. But in television we put out 23 minutes and 30 seconds of entertainment every week."

VOTES AGAINST PROGRESS

Findley's Press Agency Obscures Dismal Record

U. S. REP. PAUL FINDLEY was photographed recently visiting Lincoln School in Springfield to view the Title I program of federal aid to education in operation.

There is nothing wrong—nothing unusual—about a congressman visiting a school in his district. But it is interesting when a congressman gets himself photographed viewing the operation of a federal program he voted against.

Congressman Findley is an expert at politicking. He votes against measure after measure in Congress, then when it turns out those measures are for the public good and are popular with the people, he maneuvers to make it appear he favored them all along.

The Title I program, which Findley voted against is designed to provide supplementary educational opportunities for children from low income families.

It has been recognized for some time by social scientists that better, stronger, more complete educational programs are needed for low income areas than for other sectors of the community. This is because children of those areas have fewer opportunities to learn outside the schools, and they receive less learning stimulus from their parents and their environment.

However, practice in the past in most communities has been to give poor areas no better schools—and frequently poorer schools—than other areas receive.

But now, under Title I of the federal aid program, students in low income areas are receiving training in everything from music to botany, from literature to astronomy, in supplemental after-school classes.

We trust that Congressman Findley, now that he has seen what these federal aid programs do and how well they're working, will support them in the future, if he succeeds in fooling enough voters to be returned to Congress.

We believe the congressman has to fool the voters to be re-elected because his voting record is truly dismal. Opposition to federal aid to education is only one small part of that record.

He voted against medicare.

He voted against income tax reduction.

He voted against the War on Poverty.

He voted against nuclear arms control measures.

He has voted against virtually every progressive program enacted during the Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

Yet when those programs turn out to work for the benefit of the people, the congressman shuts up about his opposition to them and acts as if he was a booster from the start.

One of these years—perhaps this year—the people of the 20th District will get wise to Congressman Findley's tactics and vote him out of office.

The Democratic Party has a bright, well qualified, young candidate this year in Richard Wolfe of Springfield. His constructive outlook is in sharp contrast to the negativism of Findley.

The district could do itself, and the nation, a great deal of good by sending Wolfe to represent it in Congress.

From the Jacksonville Sentinel:
COL. DICKEY'S SPEECH — In consequence of the muddy conditions of the roads the attendance to hear Col. Dickey on last Thursday was not so large as it would have been under more favorable circumstances, but the Court House was well filled, and for two hours and a half Col. Dickey enchanted the audience with his peculiarly attractive elocution and a smooth stream of convincing and unanswerable argument. Would that every man in the State could have heard it.

The Hardin Base Ball Club returned on Monday, from the Ball Tournament in Bloomington, with their blushing honors thick upon them, having during the Tournament won several match games and the second junior prize.

DOMESTIC

September, 1866

The prairie-chickens were never more numerous than they are this year on the prairies of Illinois; and never before have they been slaughtered in such numbers. Several hundred are sent daily from Cortland (DeKalb County) station to Chicago and about a ton a day reach that city on the Dixon train. It is probable that the absence of the hunting fraternity in the army for the past four years has permitted the increase of this game, and it is an encouraging fact that the prairies have more of their charming game now than when the country was first settled. As wheat fields multiply, so do the prairie chickens; and if the hunters will but observe the law forbidding their slaughter before the 15th of August, they will never be driven from the country, as has been feared, but there will always remain an abundance.

In Chicago, the other day, while Thad Lincoln, the youngest son of the late president, was riding his pony on West Washington street, the animal took fright, and threw him. Thad fell with one foot in the stirrup, and before it was released was dragged several hundred feet. He was quickly taken up and carried to his mother's residence, where it was ascertained that he was painfully injured, though not seriously, about the head and face, occasioned by contact with stones in the road. Physicians were quickly in attendance, and the young gentleman, on latest advices, was doing well.

The Lawrence (Kansas) Tribune is responsible for the statement that "It is a noteworthy fact that in the City of Lawrence, with a population of eight thousand souls, there has been but one death from disease during the month of August. That death occurred yesterday. We believe we can challenge any other town with a like population in the United States to show a record." We endorse the Tribune so far as to admit that Lawrence can beat any other town in the United States, either in health or in fibbing.

(The editor of the paper was certainly a town booster of the first order. Cholera hit hard in the entire Mississippi river valley in August, 1866, especially hard at St. Louis, where at least 2,000 people died, and the entire Missouri river valley sustained a fierce epidemic. The editor undoubtedly had some town lots for sale.)

Alexander
Buys
Broadlands

A hundred years ago today the people of Jacksonville were talking about that big farm over in Champaign county, "clear to the east side of the state," that was bought by John T. Alexander of Jacksonville.

Both newspapers described it as the Sullivan farm, 22,000 acres and purchased for $216,000.

Editor Bailey of the Sentinel remarked that "Mr. Alexander's farm in this county consists of several thousand acres and he ships more fat stock into the New York market than any other individual."

That was true. Alexander owned 6,000 acres in the eastern section of the county, and there he grazed and fed cattle and shipped them on contract to New York City.

Editor Smith of the Journal said rumor had it that Alexander had bought the Sullivan farm in Champaign county for $216,000, and he added that "Mr. Alexander could buy several like farms with no trouble so far as his resources are concerned."

This was in error.

The Little Farm

First of all, both papers were wrong when they referred to the Sullivan farm. Alexander bought "Broadlands," Michael Sullivan's little farm. He still had "Burr Oaks," some 40,000 acres in Livingston and Grundy counties. In fact, he had it for another five years, before poor corn yields, low cattle prices and 10 per cent interest wrecked him.

Undoubtedly Alexander wished that Editor Smith was correct about his financial standing, but the facts are that he had to borrow a lot of money, some at 10 per cent and some out of New Jersey at 12 per cent, to swing the Broadlands deal.

Alexander, for a period, made a lot of money in the cattle business. Before and during the Civil War he would buy "feeders," native stock three or four years old out of western Illinois and Missouri, fence them in on improved blue grass and timothy pastures which were so much better than the original prairie grasses, and then feed them plenty of shock corn.

Cattle and Hogs would drive his wagon over the same circle day after day, and throw out the corn stalks. He ran one or two head of hogs per steer in the same lot and they'd toss around the stalks in search of stray kernels, thus airing the litter and making a good bed for both themselves and the cattle.

In 1865 he paid $3,000 federal income tax, which was more than the next five high taxpayers forked over to the Treasury department. In those days you had a $1,200 exemption and paid 5% on the balance, so you can figure it out for yourself that he had a mighty good income.

This tax was later repealed, because the boys on Capitol Hill couldn't figure out how to spend the money. But they're sharper these days and have all their plans waiting and their chops wet for the first trillion dollar budget.

And this probably will come about faster than you think. Michael Sullivan was the wonder boy of a very affluent family which owned 6,000 acres of land at the outskirts of Columbus, Ohio. One can ponder what that land is worth today.

Most of the 65,000 acres of land he bought in Illinois came through land warrants issued to the veterans of the Mexican war, at $1.25 per acre. Some he bought at $5 to $10 per acre.

He farmed his land by hiring unmarried immigrants, mostly Germans and Scandinavians, and housing them in barracks. These barracks, according to the news writers of the times, were pretty decrepit affairs. One man from the London Globe said that the Sullivan employees worked till sundown, ate a pork dinner, went to bed at eight o'clock, arose at sunup, never attended an opera, and never saw a fair face.

This was undoubtedly true.

The Corn King

But in those days Sullivan was known as the "Corn King of the World." One year he, or rather his farms, produced 600,000 bushels of corn. He was written up in lengthy illustrated articles in Harper's Weekly and Frank Leslie's Illustrated Weekly, then the LIFE and LOOK of the period.

One writer who visited Broadlands before he lost it wrote, "Almost all of Mr. S's farming is conducted by labor saving machinery, so that it is estimated that, throughout, one man will perform the average labor of four or five as conducted on small farms. He drives his fence posts by horse-power, breaks his land by the Comstock 'spade,' mows, rakes, loads, unloads and stacks his hay by horse-power, cultivates his corn by improved machinery, ditches low ground by machinery, sows and plants his laborers can ride and perform their tasks as easy as riding in a buggy."

68 Oxen

A reporter for Harper's Weekly wrote: "The machinery in use would handsomely stock two or three agricultural implement stores; 150 steel plows, of different styles; 75 breaking plows; 142 cultivators of several descriptions; 45 corn planters, 25 gang harrows, etc. The ditching-plow, a huge affair of eighteen feet in length, with a share of eleven feet by two feet ten inches, is worked by sixty-eight oxen and eight men. These finish from three to three and a half miles of excellent ditch each day of the week."

Wouldn't that be something to see — 68 oxen pulling on something!

Alexander came to Jacksonville a seasoned cattle buyer and drover. In his youth he had helped his father drive cattle from what is now West Virginia to New York City. Then his father moved to the cheaper lands of Ohio and kept on buying cattle and moving them to New York until he went broke.

Then John came to Morgan county, and prospered and prospered.

Beginning in 1848 he bought the land around Alexander at an average price of $3 per acre. In 1864 he gained national publicity by selling in New York 5,000 head of cattle in one month for $400,000.

Alexander continued to prosper until he and the McCoy boys from Springfield set up shipping yards to receive cattle from Texas.

These Longhorns certainly looked good, especially at $8 a head at Abilene, Kans.

But this bargain wrecked Alexander.

These Longhorns brought with them a tick and this tick carried a disease that was called "Spanish Fever," or "Texas Fever."

The cattle in Texas were immune to the disease, but it was 100% deadly to all other cattle. The symptoms of the disease were sudden and fatal. The afflicted animal would slobber at the mouth for a little while, then he'd roll his eyes around a little, then his front knees would buckle and he'd fall down on his belly, then he'd fall over on his left side and die.

That was Spanish fever.

In the summer of 1871 Alexander lost more than 5,600 head of cattle. There weren't any bulldozers in the land in those days and how you could bury 5,600 cattle? It is recorded that the stench was rather offensive.

So, he went broke. He assigned all his assets to August A. Ayers, the "K Co." of M. P. Ayers & Co., Private Bankers, Jacksonville, Ill.

And Alexander, when he died in 1876, owed $1,200,000.

A Different Trend

But August Ayers encouraged people to buy 80 and 160 acres and set themselves up in the farming business, and in about 10 years he had all of Alexander's debts paid off, plus quite a bit extra.

In his later days A. A. often said that he felt his work in Champaign county cleaning up the Alexander affair was his greatest achievement. His wife didn't like for him to be away from the big brick house on West State street at the foot of Westminster but he finally got everything finished, and after they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, it is said, they would sit on the front porch and hold hands and smile and nod at folks out for a stroll.

Ayers changed the pattern of Broadlands 100%.

The people thought so much of him that they changed the name of the township to Ayers, and you can find it on the southeast corner of the Champaign county map.

A Prosperous Area

Today Broadlands has a town — the same name — with a population slightly over 300. But it has a couple of aggressive farm machinery dealers who sell far and wide and they put in more sales tax money into the state treasury than many towns ten times as large.

And what crops of corn and soybeans are raised in Ayers township!

Too bad about Texas fever.

But this is earth, not heaven.

Mistakes, Girard Product Dump IC

By BUFORD GREEN

Lakeland's Tom Riffey, a freshman quarterback from nearby Girard, passed for three touchdowns and scored the other one as the Sheboygan, Wis. school dumped Illinois College 26-6 Saturday afternoon, in a penalty, mistake - filled game that took three hours to play on the IC field.

Riffey, the smallest man on the visitors' squad at 5-8 and 170 pounds, played the big role as Lakeland filled the air with 29 passes that netted 213 air yards.

Illinois College was plagued by its own mistakes for most of the game, as the Blueboys lost three fumbles and had two passes intercepted. The Blueboys, who rallied from a 26-6 deficit in the third quarter, blew two scoring chances in the final minutes that could have conceivably tied the contest.

Lakeland, a bigger club in both the line and backfield, also blew several scoring opportunities in the contest, mainly because of a whopping 167 yards in penalties accepted against them. Lakeland had 16 walkoffs accepted and IC six more during the lengthy duel.

Neither team was able to mount any offensive on the ground as shown by the final statistics.

Lakeland managed only 63 yards rushing, a plus two in the second half, while the hosts piled up only 37 net, minus three in the second half. Each club had their quarterbacks thrown for large losses several times, wiping out plus yardage.

First Scoring Break
Lakeland got the first scoring break in the game when 260-pound tackle Wil Bauer broke through to block a Bierbaum punt at the IC four early in the opening frame. Riffey lunged the final yard two plays later. John Levens, a freshman from Routt, broke through to block the try for the point after.

The two clubs traded blows scoring during the remainder of the quarter, with Phil Snowden's interception at the Blueboys' 32 early in the second giving IC a chance.

Spartans Overpower Penn State

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State quarterback Jimmy Raye fired two long touchdown passes Saturday to Gene Washington and MSU overpowered Penn State 42-8.

The No. 1 ranked Spartans, who allowed the Nittany Lions only one first down in the first half, combined an awesome offense with a bone-crushing defense in the intersectional clash before 5,763 fans.

Clint Jones and Bob Apisa picked up opening half touchdowns as MSU moved into a 21-0 lead. Apisa added another in the third period.

Penn State, a 19-point underdog, saw its slim chances go aglimmering early in the second period when its strong man, quarterback Jack White, went off with a kidney and hip injury.

The easterners could not put a sustained offense together against MSU's stingy defense, paced by the 283-pound Bubba Smith, who made tackles all over the place, including the one that sent White to the dressing room.

Raye picked end Gene Washington as his target on two long touchdown passes, the first of 36 yards and the second for 50.

Penn State picked up its lone touchdown in the dying moments of the game when MSU's third stringers were in action. The 37-yard drive took eight plays with Roger Grimes going over from the one-foot line.

IC marched from their own 32 to the visitors' 32 with a pair of penalties leading the way, before the drive bogged down.

Lakeland's hard-running half-back Pat Curran carried 16 yards on the next play before Riffey hit end Bob Ealing with a 52-yard scoring toss with 9:16 remaining in the half. Curran booted the PAT.

Fumble Hurts Again
Another IC fumble, this time at the Blueboys' 17, set up the next Lakeland six points. Riffey hit Ealing for a 17 yard score on the next play and Curran connected again as the visitors upped their lead to 20-0 with 4:09 to play in the half.

End Dave Hill returned the kickoff 65 yards to the Lakeland 24 to set up the first Blueboy score. Freshman quarterback Dave Barr sparked the scoring drive with a 14 yard toss to Hill. A pass interference call moved the ball to the one where quarterback Bucky Sullivan lunged over for the score and a 20-6 halftime difference.

IC got the ball on the Lakeland 23 early in the third period via a low snap from center on a punting situation, but an interception on the second play wiped out the chance.

Riffey Hits Again
Riffey hit Ealing for a 25-yard scoring toss midway in the third quarter to put the visitors up by 26-6 and virtually ice the contest.

The hosts got their final scoring drive of the day underway in the closing minutes of the third frame, marching 52 yards in ten plays, with Sullivan going over from one yard away on the second play of the final period.

Another low snap from center gave Illinois College the ball on the Lakeland 26 but the hosts were unable to move. With just over six minutes left, IC got a Lakeland fumble at the Huskies' 32, but was unable to pick up a first down.

The loss drops IC to 1-1 on the season, while Lakeland moved up to 2-1.

Beban Leads UCLA To 31-12 Edge

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Quarterback Gary Beban manufactured three touchdowns in the space of five minutes in the second period and Ray Armstrong returned a punt 62 yards for another score in the third as second-ranked UCLA crushed Syracuse 31-12 Saturday in a soggy intersectional football game.

Held to 12 yards in nine carries in the opening half, Syracuse's celebrated Floyd Little redeemed himself with two scores in the final half—one on a four-yard run and the other on a spectacular 65-yard punt return—and tied the late Ernie Davis' career record of 35 touchdowns for the Orangemen.

The double-threat Beban, who led his team to a crushing 57-14 triumph over Pittsburgh in the opener last week, scored UCLA's first touchdown from the four, set up the second with a 49-yard pass to Harold Busby and hit Busby again with a 13-yard pass on the goal line moments later.

Earlier in the second period, before either team had scored, Beban had a 46-yard scoring pass to Busby called back because of a penalty. Kurt Zimmerman, UCLA's place-kicker converted after each of the touchdowns and contributed a 32-yard field goal in the third quarter.

McCovey, Giants Win In 13th, 9-5

HOUSTON (AP)—Willie McCovey's run-scoring triple in the 13th inning broke a 4-4 tie and triggered a five-run rally that gave San Francisco a 9-5 victory over Houston Saturday.

The victory left the third-place Giants four games behind National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers, who lost to Chicago 4-0.

McCovey's hit came off reliever Chris Zachary and drove in Frank Johnson, who singled. Willie Mays then walked and Jim Hart doubled to left scoring McCovey and Mays. Alou singled scoring Hart. Carroll Sembers replaced Zachary and gave up a single to Jim Davenport and when the ball got away from Astro left-fielder Joe Gaines, Alou scored.

Joe Morgan tripled in a run in the 13th for Houston.

The Astros took a 4-1 lead in the eighth when Morgan tripled in two runs and another came in on Rusty Staub's sacrifice fly. But the Giants tied the score with three runs in the ninth.

Two scored on Mays' 35th homer after McCovey had doubled and the third came in on Tom Haller's sacrifice fly.

The Astros loaded the bases with one out in the 11th, but Jesus Alou in short left and when Alou's throw home rolled all the way to the backstop, Morgan tried to score from third.

But reliever Lindy McDaniel retrieved the ball and threw to Bob Barton who tagged Morgan at the plate.

The Giants threatened in the 12th, but Davenport, who doubled, was trapped off third when Ozzie Virgil struck out on a suicide squeeze play attempt.

Mike Cuellar and Gaylord Perry, who failed for the eighth time to get his 21st win, were locked in a 1-1 struggle going into the bottom of the eighth.

Wardwell Sparks Romp By Visitors

By TOM GIFFEN

John Wardwell, a jack-of-all-trades, ran, passed and kicked the Hamilton Cardinals past the outmanned Routt Rockets, 30-0, on the JHS field Saturday afternoon.

Wardwell tossed scoring strikes to Tom Bierbaum and Joe Asbury in the first half. The 6-2, 190-lb. junior also ran the ball for two scores. To cap his brilliant afternoon's performance, Wardwell booted a 36-yard field goal in the second period, as well as three extra points.

Neither team threatened seriously until late in the first quarter, when Wardwell returned a David Geers punt 13 yards to the Routt 32-yard line. Four plays later on fourth and six to go, Wardwell found Bierbaum alone in the end zone on a 28-yard scoring strike. The scoreboard clock showed 30 seconds left as Wardwell booted the extra point.

With 10:47 left in the second period, the Cardinal took over once again following a Routt punt. Wardwell directed the Redbirds 53 yards in five minutes for the score. Once again the Rocket defense forced Hamilton into a fourth and eight situation. Asbury drifted out into the left flat and then cut sharply in behind the Routt secondary. The alert Wardwell laid the ball into his arms for the Cardinals' second touchdown. The kick was good by Wardwell with 6:46 left in the first half.

Hamilton Again
The Redbirds kicked off and forced Routt to punt. Hamilton took over at the midfield stripe, and Wardwell immediately hit Asbury with a 27 yard pass. The Rockets held at the 19-yard line, and Hamilton elected to go for a field goal. Tom Bierbaum placed the ball down on the 26, and Wardwell split the uprights with a 36-yard boot. The score read 17-0 with 2:57 left in the first half.

Phil Liebert intercepted a Loyd Krumlauf pass on the first play from scrimmage after the kick off. Wardwell and company took over on the Routt 33-yard line with 2:35 left. The junior quarterback went back to pass but picked up Asbury and Ora Parkin as blockers and scampered around right end 19 yards to paydirt. His conversion attempt was blocked by Kenny McGinnis with 0:54 left.

Garrie Jones recovered his second Rocket fumble in two minutes and set the Cardinals up on the Routt 15-yard line with 39 seconds left. Hamilton was given a first down on the six yard line on a pass interference penalty to end the third period. Two plays later Wardwell bucked over left tackle for 4 yards and the final score. His kick made the score 30-0 with 1:14 showing on the clock.

Rockets Threaten Once
Routt posed only one serious threat during the game. Late in the fourth period, the Rockets drove to the Cardinal 21-yard line where they lost the ball on downs. Hamilton took over and ran the clock out.

Paul Lambert picked up 39 yards on the ground for Routt on eight runs. Mike Sheehan and David Welsh each ran well for Routt. Kenny McGinnis, who intercepted Wardwell's first pass, Greg Yording and Charlie Blasse shown for the Rockets on defense.

Wardwell went both ways until the fourth quarter when his understudy, Alex Dadant, took over. Besides playing quarterback, Wardwell also played in the defensive secondary, and while Bob Blackledge punted, he played tackle. Mike Barker rushed 59 yards on the ground for Hamilton. Wardwell picked up 41 yards.

Soph Passing Combination Sparks Irish To 26-14 Edge

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame unveiled a sensational sophomore passing combination, Terry Hanratty and Jim Seymour, who clicked for touchdown passes of 24, 30 and 7 yards, leading the Fighting Irish to a 26-14 season-opener conquest of Purdue's Boilermakers Saturday.

Seymour, 6-foot-4, 205-pounder from Berkeley, Mich., repeated his Hanratty losses for 476 yards to complete a overshadowing Purdue's heralded passer, Bob Griese.

Hanratty, 6-foot-10, from Butler, Pa., completed 16 of 24 passes for 304 yards in the nationally televised game.

The Bowling Scene

by Sandy Petersen

Several multi-team first place deadlocks fell by the wayside during last week's league play, as individual units grabbed one, two and three game advantages over their respective fields.

All three city-wide individual high marks stayed put through the week, while Chet Reum continued his lead in the high average race by maintaining his 201 clip.

George Manker presently holds the high game and three-game series marks with 250 and 673 figures, while Wally Baptist's 873 four-game series record also went untouched.

Fries Masonry opened up a one-game lead over Wade and Dowland in three-man Scratch Classic League action Friday night, via a four game sweep. DeLo, who had been in a 3-way tie for the lead going into the night, fell three back.

New league highs were set in team totals statistics, with the Bowling Center and Hilltoppers recording respective 632 and 2293 game and series highs. Jim Blesse's 245 game and 645 series by Wally Baptist were individual highs for the nights. Warren Seaman leads the circuit with a 188 average.

Chuck Snodgrass' 245 game, city-wide high for the week, and 601 series highlighted Wednesday's Community League play, as Jim's Super Value held on to a one-game edge over the field. Snodgrass coupled 173 and 179 with his 249 for the feat. Jim's posted both high team marks for the night on games of 550, 1040 and 1059: a 3058 total.

Team No. Three grabbed four straight from Besco in 2-man Handicap League action Tuesday night to gain a tie for the lead with Fries Masonry. Fowell's Body Shop, defending league champion, garnered the high game and series totals with 590 and 2208 marks.

Individual honors went to Marshall Manker (799 series) and Harold Megginson (227 game). Two consecutive 200 games by Russ Zulauf also highlighted the action.

Chet Reum continued his blistering 201-average pace in the City League by posting a 604 series, including a 211 game, Wednesday night. Both scores were high for the night.

High team series (3873) and game (1033) honors went to the Misfits who stand 8-games behind league-leading T & C Sales.

Five squads, headed by last week's high scoring Blackhawk Restaurant unit, moved into a tie for the Bowlerette League Thursday afternoon. Blackhawk notched the high game with an 829, while copping the series totals with a 2416 mark.

Edna Bailey strung 170, 187 and 174 for the week's best series, while Highland Center's Mildred Slocum had the high game: 213. Jo Vasconcellos leads the league with a 166 average.

Club Herald gained a one-game advantage over both Baptist Sound and Byers Brothers in third week action of the Monday Junior Commercial League.

Williamson's, which now stands 4-5, posted high game (1023) and high series (2991) for the night. W. Stanberry's 216 game and a 593 set by F. Hill also rated as weekly highs.

A 170 game on way to a 451 series by Wilma Fairfield sparked Dempsey's TV to high game and series marks in C.D. of A. action Tuesday. The respective team highs of 688 and 1950 vaulted Dempsey's to a two of three night, and left them in a two-way tie for the league lead with Pepsi Cola. Lucky Boy and Farmer's State Bank fell one game back in the four-team race.

High team single game went to Wallace-Leininger (334), with Sam Gibson and Pete Hudson splitting the individual honors on respective 339 and 190 totals.

Orleans Grain continued its domination of the Civic League Wednesday night, to take over sole possession of first place. The leaders posted high game (1061) and series (3047) marks for the night on the way to a three game sweep.

E. Feller rolled high game for the night, a 220, while B. Beck topped the field with his 592 set.

Purdue's Seymour was de-hatred by Hanratty, who made the sensational catch at 22 yards. The best was his 24-yard catch in full stride of Hanratty's long pass on the 24-yard scoring play which put the Irish ahead for keeps, 14-7, in the second quarter.

The heroes of Seymour and Hanratty, plus halfback Nick Eddy's 24-yard touchdown run on the kickoff following Purdue's first touchdown in the opening quarter, averaged Notre Dame's 25-21 loss at Purdue last fall.

Griese completed 14 of 28 passes for 178 yards and was a dancing scrabbler against the fierce Irish defense, but the Boilermakers were against much superior firepower in the amazing Hanratty-Seymour display.

Purdue scored first on Leroy Keys' 94-yard sprint for a touchdown after grabbing Rocky Bleier's fumble in midair late in the first quarter.

But 14 seconds later, Eddy streaked 98 yards straight up field with Griese's ensuing kickoff to make it 7-7.

Notre Dame seemingly had the game wrapped up at 20-7 on Hanratty's 30-yard touchdown pass to Seymour starting the fourth quarter.

But Purdue had some kick left, marching 75 yards behind Griese's sharp passing to score on Percy Williams' one-yard plunge.

That made it Notre Dame 26-14, but the Irish quickly exploited a Purdue fumble recovered on the Boilermaker 12.

Three plays later Hanratty hit Seymour in the end zone with the seven-yarder that made it 28-14.

Harper's Double Gives Reds 4-3 Edge Over Mets

CINCINNATI (AP) — Tommy Harper's two-run double in the eighth inning gave Cincinnati a 4-3 victory over the New York Mets Saturday night.

Don Pavlich led off the inning with a single and Chico Ruiz, running for Pavlich, was sacrificed to second. Gordy Coleman was passed and Ruiz and Darrell Olsen, running for Coleman, worked a double steal before Harper's double to left.

Nebraska Roars By Utah State

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Four-time-ranked Nebraska, plagued by offensive ineptness, shook off its troubles in the third period Saturday, tallied its points in three minutes of game time and defeated Utah State 28-7 in an interscholastic football clash before a record Memorial Stadium crowd of 63,848.

A 30-yard field goal by Larry Wachholtz which barely skirted the crossbar broke a 7-7 tie with 42 seconds remaining in the third quarter.

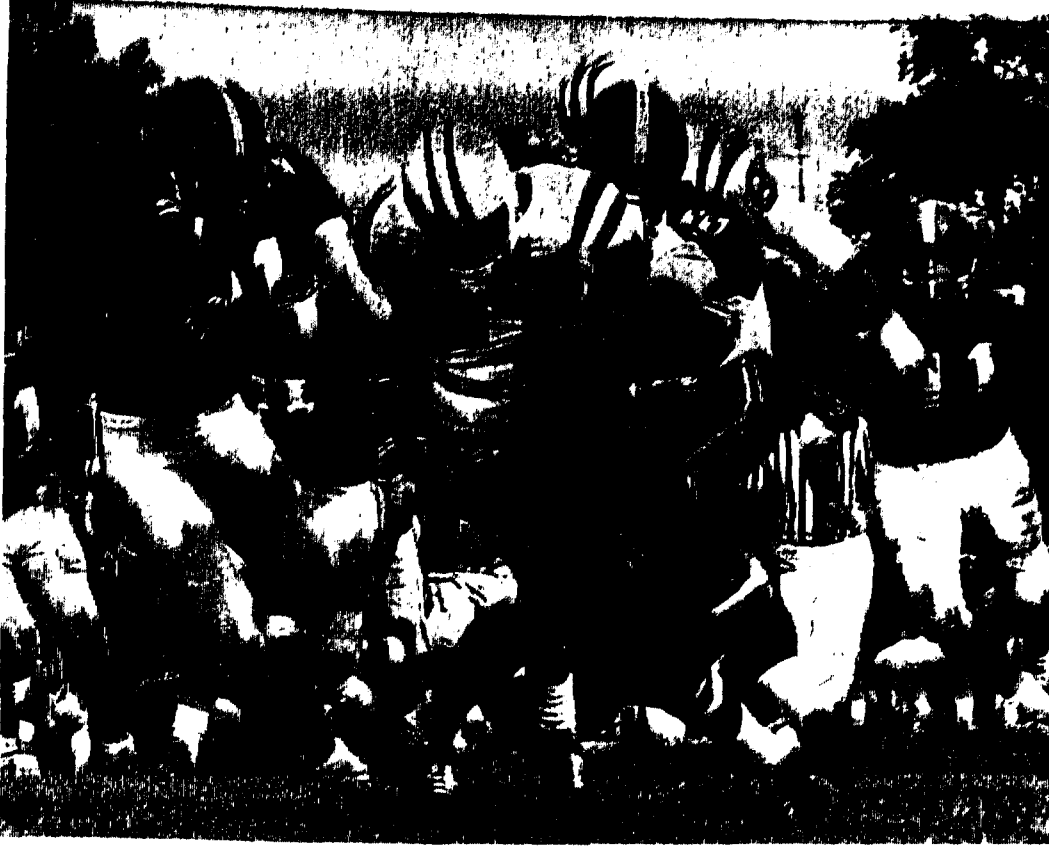

Moments later, Nebraska middle guard Wayne Meyla blocked a Ron Stewart punt and recovered on Utah State's eight.

A three-yard plunge by Ron Kirkland converted the break into a touchdown.

Two minutes later, Wachholtz pulled in a Utah State punt and rambled 79 yards for a touchdown to ice the contest.

It was Nebraska's second win of the season, Utah State's second loss.

Cubs Halt LA's Drive On 4-0 Edge

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie pitcher Ferguson Jenkins shut out National League leading Los Angeles on four hits Saturday as Chicago beat the Dodgers 4-0.

The defeat, coupled with Pittsburgh's 3-6 victory over Atlanta, cut the Dodgers' lead to 1 1/2 games and left Los Angeles' magic number at seven.

Any combination of seven Los Angeles victories and Pittsburgh losses would give the Dodgers the pennant.

The Cubs scored on infield outs in the first and fourth innings and picked up two more in the eighth on a single by Jimmy Stewart and a passed ball.

Jenkins, now 6-7, pitched his first shutout and second complete game of the season.

The Cubs pushed over a run in the first when Glenn Beckert pulled a perfect fake on the Dodger defense. Don Kessinger opened with a single. After faking a bunt toward first base, Beckert pushed a single past Wes Parker as the Los Angeles first baseman charged in the next pitch.

This hit and run maneuver sent Kessinger to third, and the Cubs' shortstop scored on Billy Williams' infield out.

GOPHERS SURPRISE STANFORD BY 35-21

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Curt Wilson, Minnesota's scampiering quarterback, befuddled Stanford with his dazzling rollouts and laterals, and paced the Gophers to a 35-21 crushing of the Indians in an intersectional football game Saturday.

Stanford, ranked as a slight favorite after Minnesota was whipped 24-0 by Missouri last week, had its offense thwarted in the first half by three interceptions of Gene Washington's passes.

By the time the Indians got their passing attack clicking in the fourth quarter it was too late.

Minnesota 35 21-28

The triumph moved the Pirates to 1 1/2 games behind the National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers, who lost to Chicago 4-0.

With the Pirates trailing 6-3 entering the seventh, Bob Bailey led off with a single and went to third on a single by Jesse Gonder. Jerry Lynch singled, scoring Bailey and Lynch went to second on Matty Alou's sacrifice bunt.

Gene Alley then doubled in two runs, tying the score. Clemente followed with his 27th homer of the season over the right center field wall off Braves' reliever Jay Ritchie.

Tennessee Rolls Past Auburn 28-0

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The Tennessee Volunteers unleashed a powerful aerial attack with a rugged defense to whip the Auburn Tigers 28-0 in a Southeastern Conference football opener for both teams Saturday.

Tennessee quarterback Dewey Warren, passed to end Austin Denney for two touchdowns and substitute Art Galiffa hurried a scoring pass to end Jerry Dalton. Fullback Bob Mauriello plunged one yard for another Tennessee touchdown.

Warren pitched 19 yards for the touchdown to Denney in the first quarter.

The Volunteers tore loose for three touchdowns in the fourth period.

The first came on Mauriello's one-yard plunge capping a 65-yard drive.

Pass Thefts Carry Tigers Past Illini

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Two pass interceptions, one being returned 60 yards for a touchdown by Jim Whitaker, rallied Missouri in the last quarter for a 21-14 intersectional football triumph over Illinois Saturday.

Phils' 3rd Dump Cards In 5-4 Win

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia clubbed Al Jackson for five runs in the third inning — two of them unearned — and beat St. Louis 5-4 Saturday night.

Ten men batted in the Phils' third with pitcher Jim Bunning and Dick Groat hitting doubles. Lou Brock's throwing error let in two runs.

Brock stole his 72nd base and hit a triple and a double for the Cards. Ed Spiezio drove in a pair of runs with a double and triple.

Bunning, who struck out 10 recorded his 18th victory against 12 losses. Jackson is now 13-14.

Long, Hudson Guide Buckeyes Past TCU, 14-7

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sophomore quarterback Bill Long mixed his passes with Paul Hudson's bruising runs to guide Ohio State to a 14-7 opening football victory over Texas Christian University Saturday.

But it took an alert Buckeye defense to stop P. D. Shabay from steering the Texans into a tie or victory. Three times in the final period, the Bucks intercepted Shabay passes to halt threats.

Hudson scored both Buckeye touchdowns, on runs of two and 18 yards, to clinch drives of 47 and 78 yards.

Shabay capped a 67-yard TCU drive to open the second half with a two-yard scoring drive.

Will Thomas returned the opening kickoff 91 yards for Ohio State, but lost the ball at the two, one of nine fumbles in the first half.

Ohio State scored the next time it got the ball, then was unable to move again until the closing moments of the period when a penalty and a fumble stopped a march to the nine.

TCU, unable to drive beyond the Buckeye 45 in the first half, started the third quarter with a determined march to tally. Fullback Kenny Post bucked most of the distance, but failed twice to get across before Shabay banged in.

Long opened up as the third period ended, hitting Bill Anders and Rufus Mayes with two passes each to reach the 18. Hudson gut the rest.

OSU—Hudson 2 run (Cairns, kick)
TCU — Shabay 2 run (Alford, kick)

Rated Arkansas Raps Tulsa 27-8

SIXTH-RANKED Arkansas rolled to a 27-8 victory over Tulsa Saturday after Martin Bercher opened the scoring with a 64-yard punt return in the second quarter.

It was the 23rd consecutive victory for the Sooners in 24 games came at the hands of Louisiana State in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1.

Tennessee quarterback Dewey Warren, passed to end Austin Denney for two touchdowns and substitute Art Galiffa hurried a scoring pass to end Jerry Dalton. Fullback Bob Mauriello plunged one yard for another Tennessee touchdown.

Warren pitched 19 yards for the touchdown to Denney in the first quarter.

The Volunteers tore loose for three touchdowns in the fourth period.

The first came on Mauriello's one-yard plunge capping a 65-yard drive.

Whitaker, a senior defensive halfback from Kansas City, stole Dean Volkman's aerial in the final three minutes of the game and raced down the sideline unmolested. Bill Bates added his third extra point and the Tigers who rattled Minnesota 24-0 last week, registered their second victory over a Big Ten team.

At 5:18 in the final quarter, sophomore Roger Wherli of King City, Mo., flied another Volkman toss to set up a 26-yard Tiger touchdown drive that deadlocked the game 14-14.

Quarterback Gary Kombrink floated a 23-yard pass to Earl Denny and Kombrink on the next play sneaked over from the one.

Volkman, a junior quarterback, herded Illinois on long driving thrusts in the first two periods. His passes to Craig Timko and John Wright were good for 37 yards and Cyril Pinder added 23 on the ground in a 91-yard drive in nine plays.

It was capped by Pinder's 3-yard drive across the goal.

In the second, the Illini drove 56 yards in 12 plays with rookie Bill Huston rounding end for the final five yards.

Three minutes later, the Tigers scored their first TD on a 68-yard march in nine plays as Kombrink hit Charles Weber for 15 yards, Jim Juras for 12 and Charlie Brown for 25. Earl Denny burst through the middle.

Stavroff Guides Wildcats Past Indians, 26-14

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Frank Stavroff tossed a 60-yard touchdown pass and then scrambled 13 yards for another score on a broken pass play to guide Indiana to a 26-14 victory over Northwestern Saturday in a Big Ten Conference football opener.

The senior quarterback put the Hoosiers on the board with six seconds to play in the first quarter when he found halfback Terry Cole open 15 yards up the middle and Cole outraced the surprised Wildcat defenders the remaining 45 yards for the touchdown.

Until the big play Northwestern had controlled the game by twice marching deep into Indiana territory, but failing to connect on key plays.

Late in the first half with Stavroff completing three passes, Indiana moved from its own 32 to the Northwestern 15. Stavroff went back to pass on a first down play, broke loose and went into the end zone for Indiana's second touchdown with 3:28 left in the half.

Point Return Score
Two minutes later Northwestern was forced to punt and halfback John Ginter took the kick and raced 53 yards down the left sideline for a touchdown and 19-0 halftime lead.

Northwestern, bottled up except for its two marauders early in the game, came to life late in the third quarter. Northwestern's Larry Gates took a Hoosier punt and returned 19 yards to his own 49. On the next play Gates threw a lefthanded 51-yard touchdown pass to Rog Murphy, and Dick Emmbrecht booted the extra point to make it 19-7.

Midway in the fourth quarter sophomore quarterback Bill Melzer took to the air and led Northwestern from its own 7 yard line to the Hoosier 15, but Indiana Ken Kaczmarek intercepted a Melzer pass to end the threat.

Employment Boosted To All-Time High In Jacksonville Area

The continuing current high level of economic activity pushed total employment to an all-time high of 16,975 by mid-August in the Jacksonville area according to L. N. Caldwell, manager of the Illinois State Employment Service in Jacksonville.

Caldwell said the six month gain reached 1,100 and over the past 12 months payrolls have been expanded by 525 new jobs. The Jacksonville area includes Morgan and Scott counties.

Concurrently unemployment, dominated by an influx of school youth into the work force, dropped to 450, representing a jobless rate of 2.6 percent compared to a state rate of 2.6 percent and a national rate of 3.7 percent.

In August 1965 the unemployed numbered 475 and the rate was 2.8 percent. Labor supply conditions are anticipated to tighten up through October, as manufacturing remains on a high plateau, and recalls occur in the nonfactory sector.

A loosening should begin to appear in December with seasonal downturns in agriculture and construction.

Manufacturing Rise — Production employment rose by 400 to 3,000 during the February 15 to August 15 period.

Increased orders boosted paper products by 200 and printing-publishing by 175. A further buildup of 50 in electrical machinery and seasonal gains of 50 in chemical products were partially offset by small declines in food products and apparel.

Employment in nonmanufacturing moved upward by 225 in the six months ending in mid-August. Seasonal expansion increased construction by 175 and trade by 125 as state government schools dropped 150 service workers for the vacation period.

Transportation - communications - utilities added 50 and a smaller pickup occurred in services.

Job Gains During Year Payrolls in the area were estimated to be 525 greater than one year ago. Chief gains appeared in manufacturing as expansions pushed paper products up by 325, printing-publishing by 225 and electrical machinery by 100.

Construction rose by 50, and retail trade added 50. Agriculture was off by 200 from August 1965 levels, and small cutbacks were recorded in apparel, transportation, wholesale trade and state-local government.

Outlook Hiring schedules recently submitted by leading employers indicate a continuation of present high manufacturing employment levels to, at least, December. The moderate expansions expected in electrical machinery, food products and apparel may be cancelled out by seasonal declines in paper products and printing-publishing.

In non-manufacturing, the usual seasonal reductions in construction will be more than offset by recalls in state government schools and fall shopping in retail trade. Farm employment will begin to experience its customary downturn during the late fall season.

Symphony Society Prepares For Membership Campaign

The board of directors of the Jacksonville Symphony Society will meet Wednesday afternoon to elect officers and to complete plans for the 1966-67 membership campaign. Season tickets, memberships, patron memberships, and corporate memberships have now gone on sale, according to the membership secretary, Mrs. Ruth W. Curtis. Printed announcements will be mailed to past members, and ways to increase the number of persons in the community supporting the Jacksonville Symphony Orchestra are being considered.

Serving On Board Board members elected and appointed at the society's annual meeting held earlier this month are: Mrs. W. F. Bailey, Robert E. Bradley, Mrs. Ruth W. Curtis, Mrs. Friedrich Engelbach, Dr. Charles E. Frank, Arthur C. Hart, Mrs. Robert R. Hartman, Mrs. C. Lepile Kanatzar, John W. Kurtz, A. John Pearson, Mrs. Antonie D. VanRensselaer, and George B. Zeigler. Dr. Walter B. Hendrickson is business manager.

At the annual meeting, 1965-66 society president John Kurtz announced that several new possibilities for additional orchestra financing were being investigated, including a request for trust funds from the American Federation of Musicians, which could be granted because of the free concerts given for students in School District 117.

Operating At Deficit Treasurer A. C. Hart reported that last year, during the third full season of the Jacksonville Symphony Orchestra, expenses had exceeded income and that some of the limited reserves had to be used. It is hoped that an enlarged membership campaign will help meet rising costs.

Dr. Henry E. Busche gave a report for the orchestra. Haydn's "Quartet No. 29" was performed by Mrs. Elizabeth Beranek, Richard Boudreau, Oliver Buck and Richard A. Moorhouse.

The guest speaker was George M. Irwin, chairman of the Illinois Arts Council, rector of the faculty for the performing arts of the Lincoln Academy of Illinois, chairman and a founder of Arts Councils of America, board member and former vice-president of American Symphony Orchestra League, founder and past-conductor of the Quincy Symphony Orchestra, chairman of the board of the Quincy Compressor Division, and board member of the Irwin Paper Company in Quincy.

Recommend Arts Manager "The role of an arts manager is a role which has been neglected too long. In meetings all over the country, like this one of the Jacksonville Symphony Society, there are attempts to meet problems such as yours.

"In many places, some solutions are coming through newly-organized arts councils. In this way a community can have a central coordinating calendar, the services of a shared professional for full-time publicity and other management needs, and a community fund-raising program for the arts," Irwin said.

He also outlined the history of the Illinois Arts Council, for which the last state legislature appropriated $50,000 in its third year of existence.

The Jacksonville Symphony Orchestra will present concerts on November 8 and April 12, as well as at least one children's concert, in February.

ASHLAND SCHOOLS GET $15,728 A Title I project totaling $15,728.00 has been approved for the 1966-67 school year to Ashland Community Unit, School District No. 212. Announcement was made Sept. 22 by Ray Page, state superintendent of public instruction.

A Start In Viet Nam

The choice of a constituent assembly by the people of South Viet Nam was a prime example of democracy functioning under extreme handicaps. Whatever misgivings one may have about the quality of the democracy thus manifested, the massive turnout of voters in a land torn by war and social and economic disruption was clearly a triumph. It was clearly, too, a setback for the Viet Cong and Hanoi.

The Communists made vigorous, organized efforts, through obstructive terrorism, to interfere with the elections. They failed. The dissident Buddhists also failed markedly in their attempt to engineer a popular boycott of the elections. In addition to these overt efforts, there were other obstacles — the difficulties of campaigning and polling in an embattled country, and also the lack of any democratic tradition to assure orderly balloting. Yet despite these drawbacks, an impressive majority of the registered voters took part in the first step toward establishment of a representative civilian government.

The most important steps are yet to come. The constituent assembly has no power to enact or enforce laws; its only function is to write a constitution on the basis of which the government will ultimately be formed. In a country still at war, and likely to be at war in the foreseeable future, there can be many a slip 'twixt cup and lip. If a sound constitution emerges, and if in turn a truly representative government is established within the next year, we will have witnessed a miracle.

The election does seem to warrant the conclusion that there is among the South Vietnamese people a cohesive desire for such a government. Whether it will prove strong enough to weather the troubles ahead is the question. But a good start has been made.

Agricultural Forecast

As our society grows more complex, there is increasing dependence on modern tools of analysis to forecast needs and ways of meeting them. The point is well illustrated at Iowa State University, where computers are being used to estimate U.S. agriculture's land, labor and capital needs over the next 15 years. The findings will provide valuable information on which decisions affecting farm policy can be based. First use of the forecasts will be made by the President's Commission on Food and Agriculture, which is analyzing farm policies and future demands for food and fiber.

To provide the basic information for such analysis, economists at Iowa State's Center for Agricultural and Economic Development have designed an analytical scheme which divides the nation into 150 producing regions with all major field crops and livestock products included. The computers are taking into account some 4,000 variables such as product demand, input costs, transportation costs and so on.

A variety of conclusions will be drawn. The Center's director, Dr. E. O. Heady, notes that his team of experts will be able to estimate not only "the very large capital needs which the individual farmer will face by 1980," but also "where labor shortages and labor surpluses will show up" by that time. Estimates will be made as to productive capacity, the effects of alternative farm policies and foreign trade policies on various regions, changes in land, labor and capital requirements, and so forth.

At one time this might have been regarded as an omnisciently centralized approach. Now it can be seen as a vital step in the planning that must be undertaken. The Commission on Food and Agriculture is putting modern analytical tools to good use. The farmer, and in the long run all the rest of us as well, will benefit.

Dear Ann:

Honesty Should Be Encouraged

By ANN LANDERS
Dear Ann Landers: Please tell a couple of disillusioned teenagers who can a person trust anyone.

My friend and I were walking down town. I saw an 8-transistor radio lying on a curb lawn. It looked new and in pretty good shape so I picked it up. We decided to ring the doorbell and ask if the radio belonged to anyone in the house.

A lady who answered the bell said the radio was not hers but perhaps it belonged next door. We tried next door and the woman there said the radio belonged to her son who was always losing things.

When I got home I told my mother what we had done. She said, "You certainly behaved like fools. Anybody would have claimed the radio whether it was theirs or not. That's human nature."

"Please don't get the idea my mother is a crook. She's really a very nice person, but I felt awfully let down after she made that remark. Is this the way people really are? —DISAPPOINTED"

"Dear Dis: 'SOME' people are like that, unfortunately, but obviously you aren't, and neither are millions of other decent, honorable folks.

It would have been nice if the lady who claimed the radio had given you and your friend a couple of dollars for your "trouble." Honest should be encouraged by rewarding those who really believe in it.

asks me to drive one of them someplace. I usually have to take them home, too. My husband is getting annoyed with these calls and has told me to say no. He says I work all day and should not be expected to drive them around at night.

I want to please my husband but I also feel I should help out my family since they help me. What is your advice? —MRS. ? ?

Dear Mrs.: So long as you accept favors you are obliged to repay them. My advice is to hire help or stay home and do your own work and leave your relatives alone. Then you can say no without feeling guilty, and you will also be able to keep the peace with your husband, which should be your major concern.

"A Great Revolutionary Storm Is Gathering in the United States!"

Washington Foreign Markets Offer Opportunity For Farmers

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA) — If the Agriculture Department would think more daringly about increasing exports and less bureaucratically about crop controls, the United States would be better off and the United States balance of payments problem less serious.

Studies of foreign markets indicate that in the next decade the United States farmer should be able to steadily increase his exports on a wide front. That is, he will be able to do this in his competitive position is not destroyed by government restrictions.

World shortages of food and other agricultural products are going to get worse in the late 1960s and early 1970s.

The population in a host of countries is growing faster than their ability to increase food production.

Take Japan as an outstanding example.

Forecasts of Japan's economic growth indicate that the country is in a position to increase imports of basic American agricultural crops over-all by 3 per cent a year.

Japan is now the No. 1 foreign market for United States agricultural products. That island country alone took 14 per cent of all United States agricultural exports in 1965, compared with the 23 per cent taken by the entire European Common Market.

Japan took more cotton, wheat and rice last year than the European Community and exceeded all individual countries in dollar imports of soybeans, corn grain sorghums, barley, hides and skins and tallow.

During the past five years there have been sharp increases in United States exports to Japan of soybeans and other oilseeds, wheat, rice, feed grains, tallow, tobacco, fruit and non-fat dry milk.

Detailed studies of Japan's future needs by Japanese economists indicate that this should be the only beginning.

Japan's total beef imports from all countries are expected to more than quadruple between 1965 and 1975.

In that same period, the studies predict: Japan's total wheat imports will jump a third, feed grain imports almost triple, cotton imports rise 20 per cent, high grade tobacco imports double, dairy product imports move up sharply.

If the United States is alert and our prices are competitive, the American farmer will get a large chunk of those increases. Japan is only one example of growing worldwide needs for United States food and other agricultural products.

Per capita food production between 1961 and 1966 moved down 2.8 per cent in the Far East, 3 per cent in Africa and 3.9 per cent in Latin America.

Experts estimate that if present population and agricultural trends continue there will be famines of serious proportions in India, Pakistan and Red China early in the next decade with equally serious shortages in Indonesia, Iran, Egypt and Turkey a few years later.

These reports indicate that at present world population increases, world agricultural production will have to triple within the next 34 years to barely make possible a "modest" diet for everyone.

Mature Parent Loving Is 2-Way Street And Don't Settle for Less

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I am 24 and divorced. As I've already failed in marriage I want to make a success of my next one. But the man I'm going with says I can't do this if I do not stop being so possessive. He says that no man wants to be pinned down to definite dates, and most of our arguments occur because I never know when he'll want to see me and can never go out in case he calls. I know that true love is not possessive and wonder if I need psychotherapy to get over my possessiveness.

ANSWER: Maybe you do. Because, you see, you seem not to know that what you call "true love" works both ways. If it is unloving to want a man to make definite dates with us, it is equally unloving of the man to refuse to make them.

Are you trying to preserve this relationship by blaming yourself for all its difficulties? Perhaps. Self-blame is the trap we have to fall into when our need of love is excessive. By blaming ourselves for everything that goes wrong between us and the necessary person, we can preserve our view of him as irreproachable and make his mistreatment of us palatable.

Yes, I think you do need psychotherapy. Because this tendency to justify another person's mistreatment of us by telling ourselves we deserve it is one we developed in our childhood. By agreeing with the mother who accused us, not of "possessiveness" but of other bad things like "selfishness" or "rudeness," we learned that she would throw us some crumbs of occasional approval. In exchange for accepting her accusations of responsibility for everything that went wrong between us, we were able to survive.

So when we become involved with a man who accuses us of "possessiveness" — that badness which accounts for all that's wrong between us — we feel right at home. We're used to being stuck with all the wrongness. So like you, we not only agree with our accuser that we are "possessive" but do so without the slightest awareness of his greediness and self-centeredness.

If someone loves us, he doesn't stick us with all the wrongness to inflate his own sense of righteousness. Whether he's a parent, a lover or friend, he does not enjoy making us feel like a nothing in order to preen himself as a something.

South rises with dummy's queen of spades at trick one but East covers with the king and South wins with the ace.

The simple play at this point is to lay down the ace of trumps. If the king drops South can claim all the tricks. If it doesn't, South will discard his losing spade on one of dummy's high clubs.

The trouble with this line of play is that South will lose his contract if West shows out on that first trump lead.

South has an alternate line of play at his disposal that will guard against that bad trump break. He starts by cashing two high clubs in order to get his spade discard. Then he leads a trump from dummy. If East follows with the deuce, South simply plays low from his own hand. If West wins with the king or jack, South will pick up the last trump later on. If West shows out, South will cash his ace of trumps and concede one trick.

If East fails to follow to that trump lead, South takes his ace and leads a second trump toward dummy.

This constitutes a perfect safety play in the trump suit because it guards against the loss of two trump tricks irrespective of how the trumps divide.

It does lose the contract for South if West holds the singleton king or jack of trumps and East is void of diamonds or against 8-0 or 7-1 club breaks, but the chance of one of these bad breaks is much less than the chance of finding East with all three trumps so the trump safety play is preferable.

FINDING THE WAY

Outracing the Bulls

Dr. Law

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
I've heard about the man who couldn't run in a race but who sprinted across the field with record-breaking speed when chased by the bull.

I've been told about the woman who couldn't swim more than a dog-paddle stroke, who suddenly performed with alacrity when saving a drowning child.

Every disaster or battle produces stories of heroes who thought of themselves as meek and lacking in valor.

All of this emphasizes the psychologist's comment that most of us use only one-tenth of our possible brain or muscle power.

In this exciting age there are all too many residents in our affluent country who wallow in despondency, hide themselves over their own worthlessness and never feel the thrill of "outracing the bull."

Flexibility is only one of the requirements of life. There are limits to flexibility. A building ought to have adaptable space but that same edifice also requires some load-bearing walls.

Change demands new understanding of those facts of life which are load-bearing.

So St. Paul could insist to the church at Rome that disasters are everywhere. He produced an inventory of dangers that might make you sit in the midst of the field and weep. Yet he was off and running and not because of his own personal energy.

He knew a compulsion that came not from impending disaster but from his own faith. He believed there was a power not just in sprinting for dear life. One could run because there was a power beyond one's self. One could face change because there was a load-bearing wall.

So he concludes his list of possible catastrophes with his famous assertion of faith, "Yet we are more than conquerors." For I am persuaded that nothing can separate us from the love of God which is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

If we haven't explored the resources of our own lives, we've also not begun to exhaust the resources of the redemptive love of God that can flow through any of us. It's one thing to outrace the threatening disaster; before us is the possibility of knowing the faith that overcomes the disaster.

A common description in religious circles is "the new breed." Versatility and shifting settings mark the role. But there's no fixed pattern to it. It's translocational.

Consider the case of Dr. Brown:

A clergyman, he works for a secular institution. A Protestant, he is most frequently on the programs of Roman Catholic meetings. A scholarly theologian, he is also regularly at the scenes-of-action in the world.

"Christianity is not mainly for the professionals," he said in an interview, noting that his own approach to it often allies him with people more interested in specific social-moral issues than in the underlying doctrines.

Dr. Brown, 46, a trim, 5-foot-11 man with a rapid-fire mind, wavy gray hair and reflective brown eyes behind horn-rimmed glasses, is an esteemed professor of religion at Stanford University — the home base for his wide-ranging activities.

A Mallard Duck With A Private Dock

There's a real Lady Bird at the Boatel in Naples, Ill. She's a duck, a mallard hen at least two, and probably three, years old. Gretchen, the daughter of the Boatel proprietors, named her "Lady," when she arrived from somewhere a couple of months ago.

For a time she hung around the big riverside elevator owned by the Illinois Grain Corp. There she picked up waste grain around the place to fill her craw.

But the bright lights on the Boatel dock draw bugs and she spent considerable time down there adding them to her bill of fare.

Then came a fierce rainstorm in the Indian Creek drainage valley and the flood waters deposited a large tree directly in front of the Boatel and there Lady took up her permanent abode, forgetting the elevator boys entirely.

But this was too good to last. The massive tree was pretty close to the channel, so the Coast Guard crew in charge of such matters hauled the tree over to the other side of the river and tied it there.

Lady was without a home, desolate, forlorn.

So the alleged lord of the manor, Paul Vannier, rigged up a dock for her, a piece of cork out of an old ice cream cabinet, about 3 feet long, 3 1/2 inches thick and a foot wide, wired to a 2x10" oak plank. This was anchored at the former site of the tree and was promptly moved onto by Lady.

Then some guys came along in a motorboat and tried to catch Lady, so Paul moved the raft inside the Boatel dock area, and Lady moved right with it.

Lady certainly is no calorie counter. She eats everything and is always hungry. When she hears a towboat coming she positions herself for action, because the suction of the propeller pulls the water from the shore for a second or so, always leaving a couple of more shad stranded momentarily.

Which is just time enough for Lady to gobble them up. Some sportsmen claim a mallard can see through boilerplate.

Lady certainly has good vision. She pays no attention to anybody else opening the screen door on the front porch, unless it's Paul. Then she begins quacking and hops into the water in high hopes of getting fed.

She trusts children and most adults who feed her, but she's pretty doubtful about Merle Lucas, the old time hunter and trapper and keeps a good deal of water between him and her precious self.

She takes short naps during the day, with her head under her right wing. The rest of the time, when she's not eating, she preens and oils her new flight feathers.

But as fat as she is she'll have a tough time joining her northern cousins in the move to the south. They'll have a thousand or more miles of flight time in before they get here and will be in perfect flying trim.

It is a pretty safe bet that some gunner will eat a mighty fat mallard before the season is over.

PERFECT TEAMWORK — Vannier likes to shell corn for Lady and Lady likes to eat it. When asked about the low forbidding feeding wild ducks he said, "I suppose it is against the law, but what isn't? I've been waiting every day for the game warden to show up and throw me in the hoosegow."

Pork Producers To Hear State Veterinarian

The speaker at the October meeting of the Morgan County Pork Producers will be Dr. Paul Doby, state veterinarian, Richard DeOrnellas, president of the local association of pork producers announces. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 4 at the Morgan County Cooperative Extension Center on East Morton Road.

Dr. Doby and Dr. George Lantis of the State Veterinarian's office will discuss the progress of the cholera eradication program in Illinois. The state entered Phase III of the program July 1. The provisions of this program, including the payment of indemnities, will be explained.

There have been two outbreaks of cholera in Morgan County in the last month. Outbreaks in the state have decreased each year for several years. There have been 30 cases reported in Illinois since January 1.

All pork producers and all interested persons are invited to attend the meeting.

Morgan Grain Yields Below State Average

Morgan county managed to keep up with its neighbors in this year's production of wheat and oats, but for the first time in 20 years it fell below the average for the state.

According to the preliminary report of the Illinois Cooperative Crop Reporting service the wheat yield in Morgan averaged 40 bushels per acre and the oats made 52 bushels. This was precisely the average for the 12 other counties in the west southwest section of the state.

The wheat crop wasn't up to par on the west side of the state this year, but was better than usual in the eastern counties.

The Illinois average was 41 bushels of wheat and 60 bushels of oats. The 1965 averages were 35.5 for wheat and 60 for oats. This high average was set by the extraordinary yields made in the southern third of the state, which even outyielded the northern third in wheat production.

Wheat and oats yields in nearby counties were:

Calhoun—31, 43.
Cass—34, 63.
Greene—38, 53.
Jersey—39, 59.
Pike—33, 40.
Sangamon—45, 63.
Scott—35, 52.

'67 Wheat Acreage Boosted 32 Per Cent

Revised farm allotments for the 1967 wheat crop have been mailed to growers in Morgan County, Lester E. Martin, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County committee, announces.

The new allotments reflect the increase in the national wheat acreage allotment recently announced by the Secretary of Agriculture, which boosted the total to 68.2 million acres. This is 16.6 million acres, or 32 percent larger than the 1966 crop effective allotment.

The chairman reminded growers that wheat price support loans, as well as the wheat marketing certificates on the part of the crop allocated for domestic food-use wheat will be available on wheat planted on a farm that is signed up and participates in the 1967 wheat program. A farm's share of the domestic food-use wheat will be 35% of the revised farm allotment times the farm yield.

Example: A farm with a 1967 allotment of 30 acres and a normal yield of 40 bushels per acre would receive certificates on 420 bushels. With certificates worth about $1.30 per bushel, the program payment would be $546 for the farm. This is in addition to the income from selling the wheat on the open market or obtaining a price support loan.

The national average loan level for 1967 - crop wheat is $1.25 per bushel; the domestic marketing certificates level will be based on 100 percent of parity as of July 1, 1967, less the announced $1.25 per bushel loan value. (The certificate value for

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP) — Port authorities in this capital city of this Portuguese African territory have announced that the 14 million tons of cargo handled in the harbor in 1965 will be largely surpassed this year.

Last year Lourenco Marques was just 3 million tons behind busy Durban, South Africa.

During the first six months of the current year the port handled 7,515,542 tons — 21,473 more than last year.

The Matola docks handled 1,118,847 tons of ore from January to July, mainly for Japanese cargoes.

Farmers Gambling Price Of Wheat Will Continue Upward

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some farmers are passing up the present big bulge in wheat prices for lower government price support loans. Markets are offering from 40 to 65 cents a bushel more than the loan program.

These farmers, obviously are gambling the market prices will go even higher.

By placing grains under support loans—where they are sealed against use or disposal—these producers get some immediate cash for their operations and still hold title to the commodities.

Should they guess right and prices advance further, these farmers would be in a position to pay off the government loan and sell the grain at an advance.

On the other hand, should prices tumble, the grower using the price-support mechanism for a grain-holding operation would lose the advantage of the current margin of market prices over the government loan.

Booming Demands

This market price advantage reflects the fact that surpluses of most grains have disappeared and domestic and foreign demands are rising.

This use of the government loan is the one intended for it when Congress first inaugurated the program in the late 1930s.

The loan was designed to provide farmers with a mechanism for what is called "orderly marketing."

It had been normal for prices to tumble at harvest time and to go up later in the marketing year as supplies declined. Naturally farmers suffered financially. But they themselves contributed to the harvest-time decline by selling their crops then. Of course, most farmers were forced to sell then by the pressure of needs for money to pay expenses and debts.

Grower Retains Title

The government loan program was set up to provide an opportunity to obtain harvest-time cash without surrendering grain.

But as production expanded, the loan program became in fact a dumping ground for surpluses. Farmers placed grain under the support loan with little thought of ever getting more than the support rate. Seldom did they get more and most of the grain would end up as government property.

This tossing of surpluses into government stocks did contribute a degree of stability to market prices. It tended to keep market prices from falling below the support rate.

But the extent to which the support loan will be used for 1966 and possibly 1967 and following years likely will be much less than in recent years. That's because there may be no new surpluses for several years and market prices are expected to hold considerably above support rates.

Less for CCC

This will result in less financing by the Agriculture Department's Commodity Credit Corporation, the agency which provides the price-support funds. In some past years, the CCC made support loans totaling more than $3.5 billion. Loans on 1965 crops totaled $2.4 billion. The loans on 1966 crops may well drop below $2 billion.

Naturally, the smaller the volume of loans made by the CCC, the smaller will be its potential losses. In fact, a sustained period of prices averaging above support rates could eliminate losses because little grain would wind up in government hands. And what it did get most probably could be sold for more than the support loan.

The industrial revolution made essential more exact methods of measurement. Parts of a machine made in different factories will not fit together unless they are made to precise standards.

Soybean Meeting On Sayre Farm Set For Oct. 5

A soybean field meeting will be held at the Merle Sayre farm seven miles north of Jacksonville on Wednesday, Oct. 5, Farm Adviser George Trull has announced. A late afternoon meeting is planned, starting at 4:30 p.m.

The Sayre plot is located on a timber soil of the Keomah-Clinton type.

Soybean varieties, weed control, fertilization, disease control, insect control and other production problems will be discussed by the Extension advisers.

Soybean producers will have the opportunity of visiting the plot any time from 4:30 p.m. on through the late afternoon.

Varities growing in the plot this year include — A-100, Harosoy 63, Harosoy, Lindarin 63, Amsoy, Hawkeye 63, Wayne, Shelby, Clark 63, Clark, Bellati, and a special Clark selection entered by Charles Drury of Alexander.

Cass And Morgan Youths Slated For FFA Degree

More than 900 Illinois FFA members and vocational agriculture instructors will be among the 10,000 persons expected to attend the National Future Farmers of America convention in Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 11-14.

Seventeen of the Illinois farm youths have been recommended to receive the American Farmer Degree.

Two of the candidates are from this area: Dale Ray Edge of Chandlerville and Larry L. Summers of Waverly. They will attend the convention, accompanied by their vocational agriculture instructors, Brian Telandier of Chandlerville high school and Paul Ames of Waverly high school.

Each degree winner will receive a certificate and a gold key from the FFA organization, plus a cash travel allowance from the Future Farmers of America Foundation.

Only one FFA member in every 1,000 members can hope to earn the American Farmer Degree in any year. The degree is limited to members who have been out of high school at least one year and who are showing evidence of becoming successfully established in farming.

Selection for this degree is also based on the Future Farmer's record in farming, leadership and scholarship.

Rusk, Nixon To Speak At AFBF Convention

CHICAGO—Secretary of State Dean Rusk and former U. S. vice president Richard M. Nixon will be guest speakers at the 48th annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Dec. 4 to 8 at Las Vegas, Nevada.

Secretary Rusk will address the general session of the convention on the afternoon of Dec. 6, and Mr. Nixon will speak at the morning session on the same day.

The Federation, an independent, non-governmental, voluntary organization of more than 1,500,000 member families, is the largest general farm organization in the nation.

More than 7,000 farmer and rancher members from 49 states and Puerto Rico are expected to attend the convention with general sessions being held in the Las Vegas Convention Center.

Among the key issues expected to be discussed and acted upon by voting delegates is the member state Farm Bureaus' annual budget and fiscal policies, international trade, farm program legislation and farm marketing.

The convention is the culmination of a policy development process which starts in the local communities and funnels recommendations on national issues through county and state units to the convention resolutions committee and the voting delegates of the member state Farm Bureaus.

The resolutions committee, composed of the president of each of the member state Farm Bureaus and Puerto Rico, the AFBF vice president, chairman of the Farm Bureau Women's committee and chairman of the Young People's committee will begin its work a week ahead of the convention in Las Vegas.

The committee will consider policy recommendations submitted by the state Farm Bureaus.

Final consideration and adoption of the policy resolutions by the voting delegates will come the morning of Dec. 8.

It's National 4-H Week

National 4-H Week began yesterday and will run through Oct. 1.

As in years past the 640 4-H club members of Morgan county will join the 2,221,000 boys and girls organized in 96,000 4-H clubs in all 50 states and Puerto Rico in celebrating the occasion.

Friday the county board of commissioners proclaimed "4-H Week in Morgan County."

Other federation officers, (looking upward) are Laura Bove, Phyllis Marshall, Mary Hembrough and Jim Burrus.

The clubs will have window displays in various stores throughout the county. Many restaurants will use place mats and tent-cards featuring the event.

The 4-H program is adjusting to conditions, as the farm population continues to decrease and today more than 37% of the members are classified as urban and rural non-farm.

Of the over 125 projects offered to 4-H members in this county the most popular one in home economics is foods. Beef, closely followed by

ACROSS THE FIELDS AND FURROWS

with ED GARLICH

SOYBEANS rank third among the cash crops in the United States just behind corn and cotton. Last year production totaled 844 million bushels and more are expected this year.

Last year's U.S. average yield was 24.4 bushels per acre. While soybeans are a big hit, there hasn't been the break through in yields that there has been recently in corn.

But research continues underway in an attempt to attain similar increases with beans.

One of the newer varieties for the North Central states is Amsoy. Traverse is a new one for Minnesota and Wisconsin and for the delta area south of us there are two new ones called Semmes and Davis. Both have resistance to a prevalent soybean disease called phytophthora rot.

"Yes, quite correct."

NEW PIONEERS

By WALTER B. HENDRICKSON JR.

Last December 16, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) launched the first of a new series of Pioneer space probes, shown in the picture above, Pioneer VI. This was the first space probe to bear the name Pioneer in five years.

Unlike the Mariner probes, which are used to study Venus and Mars, the new Pioneers are not intended to come close to any planet. Rather they are to investigate the nature of space between the planets. For instance, Pioneer VI was sent into an orbit that will take it twenty million miles closer to the sun than earth. Pioneer VII, launched on August 17, 1966, was sent into an orbit 18 million miles farther from the sun than earth.

Except for their different orbits Pioneer VI and VII are identical. Both carry the same six experiments to study the solar radiation and the sun's magnetic field. However, some of the three Pioneers remaining may carry other experiments. One suggestion that has been made is that one of them carry a potato into interplanetary space.

Spudnik This "spudnik" would test the effects the circadian rhythms of earth have on life. These rhythms are the various regular occurrences on earth, such as the tides, the rotation of earth and the ever changing angle of the sun's rays.

Different orbits are also possible for the future Pioneers. One may be sent out in earth's orbit some distance from this planet. Another may be placed in an orbit tilted twenty degrees to earth's orbit.

Still another could be sent behind the sun passing within 28 million miles of its surface—closer than any planet. Still another possibility would be to send a Pioneer on a fly-by of Venus. It would use Venus' gravity to loop the probe so that it could study the night side of that planet.

Sun Studies Yet another important and interesting experiment is being conducted with Pioneers VI and VII. The data from these probes is being correlated with information from seven other spacecraft: Mariner IV, Explorer XXXIII and Orbiting Geophysical Laboratories I, II and III.

The information from these seven satellites is being used to give the most complete and accurate picture of the sun ever made. This picture will cover almost half of the sun because of the distance of the probes from earth.

Silent World

By John Rankin

When Randy woke that morning he found himself in a strange, silent world where no birds sang, no dogs barked and no cats meowed. He finds that so many people objected to noise that a scientist worked until he found a way to silence all these noises of living things. Now, although people have found that a silent world is far worse than a noisy one, the scientist has lost the secret formula and the silence cannot be broken. Randy hears this explanation from his Mother.

Shocked almost to the point of speechlessness Randy got up and slowly, climbed the stairs to his room and crawled into bed. He lay there a long while in the deadening nighttime silence staring into the dark of night. Then he closed his eyes and drifted into a troubled sleep. Randy felt a hand on his shoulder and he opened his eyes in a roomful of sunlight and saw Mom standing by his bed.

"Wake up, sleepyhead," she said with a laugh, giving him a playful peck on the cheek. "It's Monday morning and time to make ready for school."

Wonderful Surprise "Ah have a heart, Mom," he muttered drowsily. Then suddenly he came alive and his feet hit the floor and he ran to the window and saw Dad standing by the barnyard gate with his milk bucket on his arm. He heard Major barking bring in the cows from the pasture. He heard the calves bawling at the cowshed and he listened to the birds singing in the trees back of the house.

Hardly able to believe his ears Randy turned from the window and exclaimed, "Hey, Mom, this is really great! Somebody has found the great scientist's secret! Major can bark again."

Those Idle Hours

By Mary Pence Claywell

A new day dawns... what shall we do?

We can spend it, Lord for You. Doing some small, worthy deed, For another one in need:

For the one, who suffers loss, We can help him... bear his cross;

And the one, who thirsts for Thee, And longs to share Eternity...

We can tell him, of God's GRACE, And picture His Dear, Loving Face,

And point the way to Calvary's Cross, Where JESUS DIED... to SAVE the lost;

And if one HUNGRY, comes our way, We can share our crust today;

We can guide a little child, Bound for trouble, running wild, Who's still too young, to choose the right,

Unless, Dear Lord, he's given Light: And... if we find no one in need, We can "Pasture" where "You feed,"

Glad for all, we may possess... And THANK Thee, for both PEACE and REST!

Where's Happy Place?

By Christine Hembrough

Hi! My name is Chrissie. I'm a very curious girl, a regular question box. I love to ask questions, and I do a lot.

I get a lot of answers too. But there's just one question that nobody can answer, at least nobody that I've asked yet, could I ask my parents, my friends, their parents, my teacher, a preacher, all of my relatives, even my parrot, but nobody could give me any answer. They just said they didn't know.

Oh it isn't one of those questions like what does heaven look like or how many polka dots are in a dress or anything like that. It isn't a how do you say some word in Japanese either-kind-of-question. It is just a little question, an everyday sort of normal question or so I think.

By now you must be wondering what question I dreamed up. Well-then I'll ask you too. Where can I go for a whole day where everything and everybody looks happy, and is happy, where nobody complains of anything—just a real happy place—here on earth? I'm beginning to think that there isn't anyplace like that.

Today I'm going for a long walk. Everybody I see I'm going to ask. If I find the answer I'll have it in this column next week. Meantime, if you have the slightest inkling what the answer is, please write: Teen Scene, Junior Page

Editor Jacksonville Journal Courier Jacksonville, Ill. 62651

We would also like to have your suggestions for this column—what you would like to see in it, ideas you would like to share with other teens, or questions (I'll do my best to give you an answer that makes real teen sense). We already have a few letters, and here they are.

LETTERS

Dear Christine What type of make-up do you recommend for teenagers to wear to school? Some of the girls in my school don't wear any and some of them wear everything—even false eyelashes.

Puzzled

Dear Christine, I certainly don't recommend false eye lashes. I think that make-up depends a lot upon the girl, her features, her parents, and the type of school she belongs to. I recommend that most teens wear an astringent, some powder, and a bit of lipstick. Of course you should play up your best features and play down the bad ones. No loud colors, and definitely no eye shadow for school.

Dear Christine, There's this boy named Larry that I'd like to get to know. I am sort of shy around boys. How do I get him to notice me?

Wondering

Dear Wondering, First you should make sure that you are at your best all the time. You should have a lot of girl friends and be seen with them whenever Larry is around.

Be helpful, not just to the teachers but everyone. Try to be active—join a club, or if he plays on the team be a cheerleader. If you don't make it on the cheerleading squad, you can always go to the games. Compliment him on something. You keep all of this going and he'll have to notice you unless he's blind.

If you have a question see address above, write me and I'll do my best to come up with an answer.

What Lies Behind Red China's Warlike Words Toward U.S.?

EDITOR'S NOTE—What lies behind Red China's bellicose words toward the United States and much of the rest of the world? Are there clues in the way Peking has trimmed its propaganda sails in the past? In writing this analysis an AP specialist in Communist affairs read thousands of words showing the shifts of Peking's stance since 1949.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
Red China's regime may be in more difficulty than the outside world suspects. Subtle shadings in Peking's propaganda for external consumption suggest the tension among Peking's leaders. A study of Communist China's propaganda over the past 17 years indicates a subtle relationship between bellicosity toward the United States and the extent of China's internal troubles. The words do not change much. The enemy is always just outside the door. But when internal troubles become particularly vexing or dangerous, the Red Chinese regime tends not to tempt fate too far.

Today there are strong hints of a sharp cleavage among leaders of Red China's armed forces, of clashes between some army personalities and the dominant party faction, and of struggle within the party. Almost uninterrupted for 17 years, Peking has directed a litany of vilification and threats at the United States. Relatively brief interruptions in this tone may suggest what is going on now at the highest levels in Peking.

Washington China-watchers say that in recent months Red Chinese propaganda has been relatively free of threats of war with the United States. The denunciations of Washington—and, for that matter, of Moscow—are plentiful, but seem to be leavened with a bit of caution. This could have a bearing on the struggle going on in Peking. Evidently, the armed forces leaders are in the thick of it. A few days ago, the paper Liberation Army Daily, mouthpiece of increasingly powerful Lin Biao, spoke of "the struggle between the two kinds of thought in army building and the two policies in army building—the proletarian versus the bourgeois."

A year ago, Ho Long, a top-ranking army leader, declared there were "anti-Mao, depraved elements" in the armed forces, men "with bourgeois views on military organization." He probably referred to those who wanted a professional army and professional officers' corps, as opposed to the sort of army run by the party-officers without visible signs of rank and soldiers shipped to farms and factories for manual labor.

The army conflict is only one facet of a many-sided upheaval discernible behind the noisy violence of the current purge which goes by the name of "Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution." Political heads are rolling everywhere. Peking, indeed, may be facing its most serious political crisis since the Communists took over the mainland in October 1949.

The anti-United States psychosis set in soon after that takeover. Once in control of the country, Mao Tse-tung advanced his thesis that the United States was a paper tiger, outwardly strong and inwardly feeble, against whom Red China would fight to the finish for Formosa.

Red China had just signed a mutual defense treaty with the U.S.S.R. and had its implicit protection. Thus, in 1950 Premier Chou En-lai could denounce the United States with impunity as "the most dangerous enemy of the People's Republic of China" and threaten quick "liberation" of Formosa. Red China soon carried out its threat of fighting the United States. After a period of deriding U.S. forces in Korea, in much the same words employed later on to ridicule Americans in Viet Nam, China intervened with "volunteers." The war would be long, said the propaganda, but the paper tiger inevitably would be defeated because U.S. civilization would be incapable of a protracted military campaign. The Soviet Union was pictured as China's eternal ally, and its leadership of world communism freely granted.

The bellicosity hit a peak in mid-1965, when Red China was pictured as "waiting in battle array" for the Americans, and as being ready and willing to take on the United States and the Soviet Union combined. Threats were made to send "volunteers" to Viet Nam. But something toward the end of 1965 seemed to dictate a measure of Peking caution. Internal propaganda spoke of "tendencies toward capitalism" among peasants. The official Peking People's Daily commented that even among party members, revolutionary spirit was waning. China had sustained setbacks in its foreign policy. A big investment in time of internal disorder.

Then, as the "great proletarian revolution" unfolded with its unbridled youthful violence providing a screen for a widespread party purge, China's tone to the outside world assumed a note of caution. The words still sounded violent, but the qualifying phrases were there, possibly to prevent Peking from committing China irrevocably beyond her depth at a time of internal disorder.

Historic Home And Building Tour Open To Public In Pike

PITTSFIELD—The Pike County Historical Society of Pittsfield is planning its second tour of historic homes and buildings on October 2. Hours are from 1:30 to 6 p.m.

Stops included in this tour are:

Walther Home

The Nina Walther home in Barry, at 518 Bainbridge, built in 1890 by Michael Lane, a native of Ireland, who used it as a funeral parlor. Extensively damaged by fire in 1934, the house was later sold to the Walther family which restored it to its original condition.

The nine-room home is now furnished throughout with Victorian antiques, many of the pieces of glassware and furniture being family heirlooms. The home is now occupied by Mrs. Walther and her son Norton.

General Store

The Old General Store is located 100 feet off US 36 at Barry. The two-story, five-room portion at the rear, built in the 1850s, was originally at the front and was a general store, operated by Charles Pinger, who also had a lumber yard next door.

Mrs. Rae Birch

Mrs. Hattie Palsgrove, Mrs. Elenor VanHuyning, Mrs. Grace Sumpter, Mrs. Ida Cracker, Mrs. Verla Lovekamp, Mrs. Iva Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Jarvis.

Mrs. Eva Raleigh, Mrs. Bernard Patterson, Mrs. Verner Zimmer, Mrs. Ames and the guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Mayberry.

Fellow employees and invited guests unable to attend and sending gifts included Edna Hudson, Frances Halligan, Dolie Adams, Wanda Mayberry, Lena Edlen, Lela Thompson.

Martha Gaines, June Cantrell, Grace Jolly, Marie Sheppard, Hettie Cowper, Louise Lewis and Ethel Charlesworth.

Visitors At New Berlin

Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Ristau have returned to their home at Long Beach, California after visiting friends and relatives here. Stc. and Mrs. Joseph R. Mayberry and children visited here while en route to Fort Carson, Colorado where he is stationed with the Army Medical Corps.

Many of the houses around the store housed the workers of the lumber mill, and the area was commonly referred to as "Pineville."

Three times the store changed ownership, and in 1957 the entire stock and fixtures were sold and the building closed. In 1962 Norton Walther purchased the building, restored it and furnished it with authentic 19th century fixtures and salable items, and in the two rooms at the back has added a museum—the only one in Pike county. He has just recently added another large room at the south and it, too, has many lovely antiques on display.

Hubbard Home

The Roy Hubbard home, 703 N. Jackson, Pittsfield, was built in 1881 by Leopold Niebur, many of whose descendants live in the city. This two-story brick home has inside walls which are 14 to 18 inches thick.

The original floors and woodwork, wide window sills and open stairway make a perfect setting for the antique pieces, many of which came from Pike county homes. The Hubbards became interested in antiques only a few years ago, but have accumulated many interesting items.

Schimmel Residence

The A. W. (Bud) Schimmel Jr. home, 306 Piper Lane, Pittsfield, remains much the same on the outside as it was when it was built in 1857 by a Mr. Davidson. It was later purchased by Joseph Watson, a farmer of Independence neighborhood. He had a large family, and many of his grandchildren live in Pittsfield.

The Schimmels purchased this lovely two-story brick home and have only recently completed some remodeling. During the tour, Oct. 2, light refreshments will be served here. Also, on display will be some of the buttons from the large collection acquired by the late Miss Nina Peters.

Ralph Kern Home

The Ralph Kern home, commonly known as the Stanley Stone place, one and one-half miles south and two and one-half miles east of Pittsfield, on the Time road, was built in the 1870s by Francis Brown. Setting far back from the road in its spacious well-kept lawn, this two-story brick home, with its white trim, is a lovely sight at any season of the year.

Household Science Meets At Spencer Home

The Jacksonville Household Science club members met Sept. 20th at the home of Mrs. John Spencer, 1710 Mound avenue with Mrs. Stuart Lippert assisting. This meeting marked the opening of the club's 82nd year.

Mrs. J. N. Conover, vice president, dedicated a poem, The Magic of Friendship, as a greeting to the members and guest. The secretary, Mrs. Ivan Garrison, read the minutes and correspondence. Roll was answered by nineteen members.

Mrs. Hugh Green, program chairman, introduced the program for the afternoon as Vacation Cleanings, a club participation activity. Each member related interesting experiences of the summer vacation time. Many far sections of the United States were visited by those responding. Trips abroad provided many memorable experiences for several members and families, while quiet, restful vacations at home with friends were enjoyed by others.

Following adjournment Mrs. Conover presided at an attractively appointed tea table.

Hotel At Florence

The Old Brick Hotel at Florence was built in the 1850s by a Mr. Findley who is buried in the old cemetery on the hill nearby. Abe Lincoln is said to have stayed here, en route to Pittsfield while on circuit. This old three-story brick building, still basically sound in structure, has served variously as a hotel, a store, and just as a residence.

Mrs. Reuben Lane recently purchased this old landmark, moved into the second-floor apartment, and has had a furnace installed and water connected. She plans to restore the lower floor, which is badly in need of repair, and eventually open a lunch room there. The brick walls are more than two feet thick. The north portion of the first floor housed the store, with main entrance on the east, facing the Illinois river. Although at this time of year it can scarcely be seen through the foliage, a dormer with an outside full-height door projects from the roof at the south side.

Display At Courthouse

The Pike County Historical Society has made arrangements for the lobby of the courthouse to be open during the tour so that visitors may view the family heirlooms and artifacts in the showcases there. The society also reminds you that it would appreciate the loan of other items to be put on display.

Object of this tour is to raise funds for the publication, in book form, of the "History of Pike County" by the late J. M. Thompson.

Donations of one dollar are receivable at the door of any of the stops on the tour.

To toast sesame seed, spread the seed in a shallow pan and bake in a slow oven for about 15 minutes.

Wednesday morning both state and federal fish trucks were in Jacksonville to distribute bluegills, large mouth bass and channel catfish to stock ponds built in Morgan county within the last 12 months under the supervision of the Soil Conservation Service.

The state fish hatchery at Grassy Lake, near Carbondale, raises only bluegills and bass, but the federal hatchery at Muscatine also has channel cats.

Recommended stocking rates are approximately 100 of each species per acre of pond surface, but this varies somewhat according to the depth of the pond.

In the photo Joe Graham, SCS technician, is out a pan in Oliver Twist style to Harvey O. Ewoldt, driver for the federal truck. In the rear are Alvin Ginder, who stocked his pond last year and is simply amazed at the speed the fish are growing; Wendell Petefish, who is stocking his second pond, and Albert J. Fortado, who has a new pond north of town.

Others getting fish from the federal truck were Wilbur Tappenbeck of Chapin and Francis E. Finch, southwest of Jacksonville.

Pond builders getting fish from the state truck, which was in charge of Carl Miller, were Clifford Bottens and Robert Van Bebber of Murrayville, George M. Strawn of the Strawn's Crossing neighborhood and Warren Lakamp of the Liberty community.

THE THREE FINCH KIDS, Timmie, 2; Tommy, 3, and Stephanie, 4, were fascinated by the little channel cats that will go into Francis Finch's two acre pond southwest of Jacksonville.

And the fish ought to be just about the right size when the kids get old enough to handle a fishpole and bait a hook.

BRIMFUL and running over

By Jim Brim

It used to be said that "you can tell a carpenter by his chips."

Today you can tell the knowledge and skill of the combine operator by the grain he leaves in the field. Watch the ground and the grain to determine what adjustments need to be made. Study the operator's manual and the construction of the combine and you will be able to do the best job.

Natural and unavoidable losses will vary according to maturity and moisture content. Corn losses are lowest between 24 and 28 per cent.

Soybeans are more sensitive to weather. You'll need to make several cylinder speed changes each day to do a good job.

Check your losses. Place a 40 inch outline on the ground and count the beans or kernels of corn inside it. Each 50 bushels represents about 1.1 bushel loss per acre. Each 50 grains of corn represents a loss of 2.5 bushels per acre.

This can add up quite rapidly. A loss of 100 grains equals five bushels per acre, or 200 bushels on 40 acres, and at today's prices it's really worth trying to get as much of the crop as possible.

Now you should...
fertilize lawns.
seed grass.
look for cooler weather.
buy new shoes.
eat apples.
keep hog beds dry.
watch the markets.

Consider carefully the matter of grain storage on the farm or in commercial bins. It looks as though prices may warrant holding grain.

Most people know how to do things better, more efficiently than they usually do. I believe this is the case with the transporting of feeder cattle and caring for them when they first arrive at their new home lot. It is a time of stress and they need a little extra care.

Many teen-agers believe that their family circle is composed of squares.

Illinois Farm OUTLOOK

CORN AND SOYBEAN ESTIMATES ARE SHOCKINGLY LARGE

Those who doubted that the USDA's crop estimates were kept secret prior to official release should now have their suspicions put to rest. On Friday, Sept. 9, the release date for the USDA's September 1 crop estimates, soybean Chicago futures prices went up 7 1/2 cents a bushel and corn 2 cents.

Within an hour after the Chicago Board of Trade's closing gong sounded and trading stopped, many grain traders read the wire reports of the USDA's crop estimates with disbelief and regret. The Department boosted its September 1 estimate of this year's soybean crop to 926 million bushels from 860 million on August 1. The grain trade had expected the estimate to be about 900 million, so buyers of cash soybeans were in the dilemma of not knowing when and at what prices they could sell futures against their purchases of beans from farmers and country elevators. Many buyers solved the problem by either dropping their bids 20 cents a bushel or closing shop and going home.

The corn estimate of 4,090 million bushels was up 109 million from August 1, within 100 million bushels of the 1965 record crop and larger than the most optimistic trade estimates by 100 to 200 million bushels. In addition, the grain sorghum estimate of 716 million bushels was 129 million larger than on August 1 and 50 million above 1966. With this improvement in feed grain supply prospects, corn bids were also lower and erratic.

Now the question is: If these larger crops materialize, what will be their effects on prices? Only time will give a positive answer to this question, but a brief review of supply and demand factors may be helpful.

Corn Supply-Demand Balance Still Tight. A 4.1-billion-bushel corn crop is still 300 million bushels less than the disappearance of 4.4 billion for the current year. Increases in hog and poultry production and a cutback in the use of wheat for feed could easily boost the 1966-67 corn disappearance by 100 million bushels, or to about 4.5 billion. This rate of use would drop carryover stocks on Oct. 1, 1967, to 550 million bushels, compared with 950 million this October 1. Such a prospect would mean strong corn prices, possibly in the $1.35 to $1.50 range. There is greater uncertainty than usual about the accuracy of this year's corn estimates due to spottiness of the crop, and also about the rate of corn disappearance.

The jump in grain sorghum production will increase this grain's competition with corn, especially in the export market. Grain sorghum disappearance in 1965-66 is 36 percent over a year earlier compared with 11 percent for corn.

Soybean Crop At Record—But Strong Demand. The soybean supply for 1966-67 now adds up to 956 million bushels—926 million production plus 30 million carryover—compared with the August 1 figure of 890 million bushels. A 956-million-bushel soybean supply is 113 million bushels above the 1965-66 record use of 843 million. However, with moderately lower prices for meal, exports and domestic consumption of soybeans could boost 1966-67 use to 900 million bushels, leaving a carryover of about 50 million a year hence. These prospects point to an Illinois farm price of about $3.00 for soybeans.

250,000 Radio Hams May Get New Rules

By STEPHEN M. AUG
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission, concerned about the caliber of the nation's quarter-million amateur radio operators, may re-examine most of them.

The proposal could cost the ham operators about $1 million. The rule change was suggested by the American Radio Relay League, an organization representing about 85,000 hams. In its request for the rule changes—now in the final stages of preparation—the league said there is "increasing concern... as to whether the basic purposes and objectives of the amateur radio service, particularly those relating to technical qualifications and proficiency," are being achieved.

In short, the league is concerned because more and more hams have no great interest in radio technology. Many of them, as an FCC official said recently, "just go out and buy their equipment, plug it into the light socket, connect the antenna and operate."

This is a big change from only a decade ago when most hams built at least part of their equipment.

"One can truthfully say that the percentage of licensees who are the true tinkerer or technical types has been dropping," an FCC source said.

Now, with more money, most hams are able to buy fine, commercially built equipment.

Although hams still are required to pass tests in international Morse code and basic electronics, some FCC officials feel they have not progressed as far as might be expected, considering the developments in electronics and communications.

The result: The FCC picked up the league idea and began formulating proposed new rules. The changes, if approved by the seven-man commission, would be the biggest overhaul of amateur rules in 15 years.

A new license grade would be established. To retain all their present operating privileges, most hams would have to take new, stiffer tests in code and radio theory, at a cost of $4 per exam, pass or fail.

Those who fail would still be allowed to operate on all frequency bands—or groups of frequencies—which they now use. But they would be permitted only on certain segments of these bands.

There already is one special amateur license—known as the extra class—but it conveys no extra privileges. Of 270,000 hams in the United States, fewer than 5,000 go extra class. They would be exempt from the new exams. One FCC official said the extra class exam is about as difficult as tests for top grades of commercial radio licenses.

Part of the FCC concern over the status of hams is related to the allocation of precious radio frequencies. Other services—maritime radio stations, aeronautical radio services, and international broadcasting—all would like to take over the valuable amateur frequencies.

There is some feeling that the justification for reserving these frequencies for hams hinges to a considerable degree upon the value of the radio amateur to the country.

FCC officials point out that hams have been valuable.

Since World War I, hams have been a big source of semi-trained personnel for the armed forces. Amateur radio also has been the first training ground for many young scientists.

Hams also help the public in times of emergencies. And where international regulations permit, they handle messages between members of the armed forces and the folks back home.

But if hams do not perform these services and do not continue to upgrade their skills, then officials fear that they will have no basis for reserving large blocks of frequencies for hams.

Pressure has come from many new countries—especially those in Africa—for more international frequencies. In many an emerging nation, an international broadcasting station has become a status symbol and a means for disseminating its views to the world.

P. Hill, Triopia Fight To 7-7 Tie

PLEASANT HILL — Pleasant Hill and Triopia battled to a 7-7 tie, here Friday night, in a defensive battle between two of the top small schools in the area.

The host Wolves jumped to a 7-0 lead in the opening quarter with quarterback Doug Goodman scoring on a 12-yard keeper around right end and Bill Tharp legging the point after. Triopia drove to the Pleasant Hill 35 in the same quarter before a fumble ended the threat.

Triopia got back in the game in the second frame on a 65-yard march that took 12 plays. Halfback Bill Meier scored the TD from three yards away, with Tom Burrus throwing to Meier for the PAT. The drive was aided by a pair of 15-yard penalties. Meier picked up a Pleasant Hill fumble and ran it back 40 yards to the hosts' 15 but there was no time left for a play.

Pleasant Hill threatened in the third on a drive that carried to the 25 but a fumble halted the drive. Again in the fourth Pleasant Hill marched to the eight before Triopia's defense held on a fourth down play.

Meier and Burrus were outstanding both ways for the much heavier Triopia squad, while Tharp, Mark Browning and Larry Anderson were the spark-plugs for the hosts.

Both clubs are now 1-1 after the non-conference tilt.

Cassius Says He Plans To Fight Terrell Next

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay said Friday he expected to fight Ernie Terrell, the World Boxing Association's titleholder, after the bout with Cleveland Williams in Houston, Nov. 12. He also said he was willing to fight Floyd Patterson again "if the public wants it."

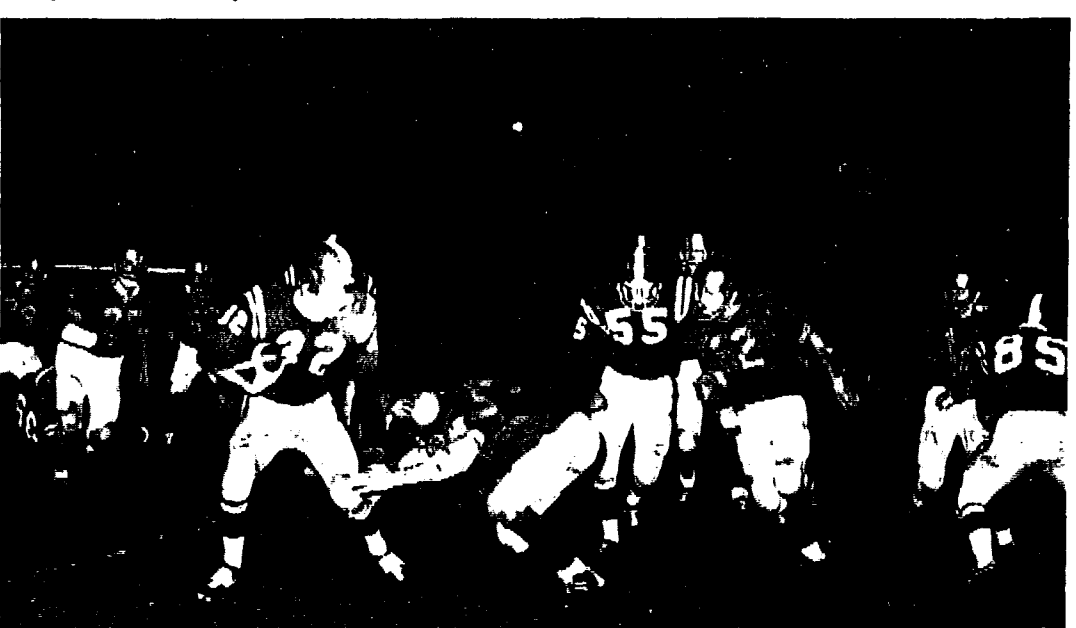

"Patterson beat the man I picked and therefore is a definite threat to my title," said Clay in a taped interview to be heard on the American Broadcasting Company's Wide World of Sports Saturday.

Clay stopped Patterson, who knocked out Henry Cooper earlier this week in London, at Las Vegas, Nev., in 12 rounds a year ago.

"I can't announce the date," said Clay, "but I'll fight Terrell for sure after the Williams fight, then possibly Patterson. At the rate I am going I could fight them all in six months."

SETUP: Halfback Abe Brown of Jacksonville is grabbed from behind by an unidentified Taylorville defender and is stopped in front by a body block from another Tornado. Brown was stopped on this play but broke away for over 130 yards rushing and scored twice as JHS ran its record to 2-0 with a 37-7 margin over Taylorville Friday.

SIDESTEP: Jacksonville's Rich Coble sidesteps a Taylorville defender as he turns the corner on this end sweep. Coble was one of the Crimsons' leading offensive runners in JHS' 37-7 romp over the Tornadoes Friday night.

Pirates Tip Hot Atlanta Club By 3-0

ATLANTA (AP) — Bob Veale blanked Atlanta on four hits and home runs by Willie Stargell and Don Clemen provided all the runs as Pittsburgh whipped the Braves 3-0 Friday night.

Despite the victory, the Pirates lost one-half game in the National League pennant race to front-running Los Angeles, which swept a doubleheader from Chicago. Pittsburgh trails the Dodgers by 2 1/2 games.

Stargell hammered his 33rd home run in the first inning with Matty Alou on base. Then Clemen delivered his 26th with the bases empty in the sixth.

Veale, working with a sore back, won his 15th game, striking out 12. The tall left-hander was in trouble only twice but pitched his way out both times.

He hit first baseman Ty Cline with a pitch in the first and Rico Carly followed with a double. But Veale retired Gene Oliver on a grounder, ending the threat.

The Braves mustered another challenge in the bottom of the seventh inning when Hike de la Hoz and Denis Menke collected consecutive singles with two out. But Veale struck out Mack Jones, ending it.

Home runs—Pittsburgh, Stargell (33), Clemenon (26).

Stop Vitali

Taylorville's only offensive threat was its workhorse fullback Al Vitali, but the Crimsons held him to only 33 yards on 23 carries, a minus seven yards on 13 tries in the second half.

The Crimsons had another chance to score in the period, marching from their own 35 to the Taylorville 25 before a fumble gave the ball up with seconds showing. Brown had a 29-yard scamper in the drive.

Jacksonville again dominated the second quarter, but threatened only near the end when a drive carried from the Taylorville 41 to the five before a fourth down play left short. A Brooks' pass to Coble for 29 yards was the big play in the march.

Taylorville managed to get back in the game slightly after intermission as Gary Rahar picked off a Brooks pass at the Tornado 45 and returned it to the four before being hauled down by Gollier from behind.

Vitali lunged the final three yards to play later and Buddy Altman booted the PAT for a 19-7 count with 7:53 to play in the frame.

Add To Landslide

Brown returned the kickoff 36 yards to get the Crimsons rolling on another scoring effort, a 51-yard drive that took 11 plays with Gollier going over from four yards away. Brown and Coble did the leg work in the drive.

Jim Bruner picked off a Taylorville aerial early in the final period to get a Crimson scoring march started at the Taylorville 31. After Brown had a five-yard TD scamper called back, the speedy senior made it over two plays later from 14 yards away.

The final Jacksonville score came with 1:24 to play when Taylorville gave the ball up at their own 12 on a fourth down play. Junior Quarterback John Mathews lunged the final yard.

Taylorville's Vitali broke loose for a 90-yard punt return score in the final period, only to have it nullified by a clipping penalty.

The visitors are now 0-2.

Dodgers Win Two To Boost Margin

CHICAGO (AP) — John Roseboro's ninth-inning two-run homer gave the first place Los Angeles Dodgers a 4-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs and a sweep of their doubleheader Friday.

Don Drysdale shut the Cubs out 4-0 in the opener as the Dodgers opened their lead to three games over Pittsburgh, which played at Atlanta Friday night. Third place San Francisco which was idle fell five games behind.

Roseboro connected with one out in the ninth after Dick Schofield, who had driven in the first two Dodger runs with singles, was hit by a pitch. It was the veteran catcher's ninth homer of the year.

Schofield had two hits in each game and drove in three of the eight runs Los Angeles scored in the doubleheader.

The Cubs had tied it 2-2 in the seventh inning of the nightcap on their second unearned run of the game.

The opener was a Drysdale-Schofield show from start to finish. Drysdale scattered eight hits to record his third straight victory and boost his record to 12-16.

Schofield singled in the second inning, stole second, took third on a wild pitch and scored on a fielder's choice, beating Curt Simmons' throw to the plate over Maury Wills' bounce.

The Dodgers added three more runs in the third on a single by Tommy Davis, a run-scoring double by Wes Parker and run scoring singles by Schofield and Drysdale.

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds erupted for six runs in the first inning and scored a 7-0 victory over the New York Mets Friday night behind the five-hit pitching of Jim Maloney.

Maloney, who had lost his last four starts, struck out 13 in bringing his record to 15-8.

The Reds got seven hits in the first inning as they chased Met starter Dennis Ribant, who failed to retire a man.

Tommy Harper walked and scored on Tommy Helms' double to right center. Vada Pinson followed with a two-run homer, his 16th of the season. Four more hits, including a triple by Lee May, and a sacrifice fly produced three more runs as the Reds sent 10 batters to the plate.
